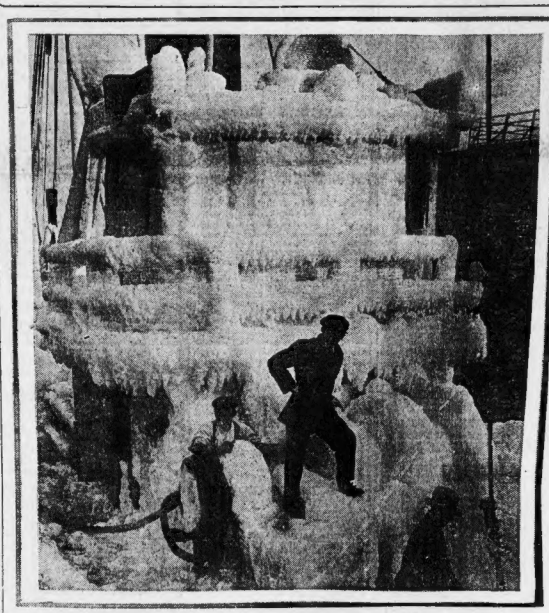
Old Sol Uber Alles Despite Cool Feat of Erlebtnicht



Remarkable photograph of good ship Fliegender Deutscher. Captain Erlebnicht is seen in foreground, in fatigue uniform. He became goldarned dangerous when asked if it was hot enough for him.

Ice-coated from stern and glaring crystal defiance at the sizzling July sun the schooner Fliegender Deutscher, Captain Hans Erlebtnicht, came up the harbor today and made fast to the old Boston Pier, while the whole waterfront marvelled at the floating refrigerator.

When the Fliegender Deutscher approached the pier the temperature ashore, which was ranging up toward 90 degrees, began to slide down.

When the ice palace made fast the mercury in the office of Captain Hezekiah Winterbottom, the veteran wharfinger, registered 80 degrees, showing the effect of the vigorous drive made by the frozen forces of the Ice King against the battalions of the sun.

The Fliegender Deutcher was an uncanny spectacle for a hot wave period. Its hull was coated with ice a foot thick. Its masts, spars and rigging was crusted so deep than an ordinary inch rope was six inches through.

The deck space was solid ice, with narrow lanes chopped out for movements of the crew.

The anchor flukes were huge blocks of ice, any one of them large enough to cool a brewery.

As the vessel lay at the pier it chilled the harbor water so rapidly that a thin sheet of ice began to form around the hull, extending farther and farther out as the water became colder. Sea gulls picking up banana skins from the surface were driven out to midstream by the increasing chill.

One gull, evidently a young and inexperienced one, was caught by the ice sheet and remained frozen by the feet. Its piteous and startled cries as it tried to break loose brought tears to the eyes of many warm-hearted longshoremen.

One of the "Narrow Gauge" ferryboats, laden with persons bound for high tide along Winthrop Beach, nearly overturned as the passengers all rushed to the side of the ferry toward the ice boat in order to see the strange craft and to get the benefit of the refreshing chill.

Captain Erlebtnicht said that he had just brought his boat down from the North Pole, timing its arrival for the July heat waves in Boston in order to raise the top market price for ice.

The doughty skipper was prepared for opposition, which developed quickly. A representative of the Ice Trust protested to the customs authorities that the Fliegender Deutscher was an armed vessel, mounting several cannon on its deck.

UNARMED VESSEL.

But Captain Erlebtnicht said he was ready to prove that what looked like ice-covered cannon were merely the open ends of exhaust pipes.

The argument ended with the Teuton Captain escorting the Ice Trust representative below, whence he failed to emerge.

(NOTE—The name Fliegender Hollander is German for Flying Dutchman, a legendary vessel. The skipper's name, "Erlebtnicht," means "he lives not" or "he doesn't exist." The old Boston pier, built in 1710, was the predecessor of the present Long Wharf. The ancient wharfinger is mythical. So is the boat, the ice and the whole dodgasted yarn. But wouldn't an ice-wrapped boat be a swell sight just now?)

Bremen Reported Near Virginia Capes; Americans May Sail on Return Trip of Deutschland

By International News Service.

Baltimore, July 13.—It is reported that the Bremen, sister ship of the submarine liner Deutschland, is hovering outside the Virginia Capes. In support of this, it is pointed out that the tug Timmins is now being overhauled, ostensibly for another trip to Norfolk.

Washington, July 12.—Answering the statement of the French and British embassies that the German submarine liner Deutschland would be fired upon without warning and treated as an enemy warship, it was learned that the officials of the German line controlling the daring undersea boat have agreed to carry two American citizens on the return trip.

If the government upholds its ruling in the Sussex case now that the Deutschland is held strictly a merchantman, it must, to be consistent, in case of an attack without warning rule that the act is deliberately unfriendly to the United States.

In the note to Germany of July 21, 1915, the State Department made this promise to the Imperial German government:

The government of the United States will continue to contend

CANNOT ESCAPE SERVICE

War Department Orders Cole to Have Men Report at Framingham; Court-Martial on Refusal

Adjutant-General Charles H. Cole today was instructed by the War Department to order to Framingham the members of the Massachusetts militia who have refused to take the federal oath.

When they arrive at Framingham they will be ordered to muster into the service of the United States, as members of the organized militia, for the balance of their unexpired terms.

General Cole estimates that between 600 and 700 men refused to take the oath. He says that all of them are subject to the new order.

He believes they will be sent to the border.

Refusal to take the mustering-in oath will make the men liable to trial by court-martial boards.

General Cole received this order through General Leonard Wood, commander of the Department of the East.

WILL CONFER WITH McCALL.

General Cole will confer on the matter with Governor McCall upon the Governor's return from Vermont this afternoon.

To clear up any doubt as to the legal status of the situation, General Cole has already submitted General Wood's order to Colonel William C. Rogers, judge advocate-general of the Massachusetts militia, and Attorney-General Henry C. Attwill.

The final order, if issued, must come from Governor McCall, as commander-in-chief of the militia.

While there is as yet no reason to suppose that Governor McCall will decline to issue the order, General Cole pointed out that, if the Governor refuses, the men can be ordered to Camp Whitney by the President.

General Wood's order was issued under authority which the War Department says is vested in the War Department by the Dick bill.

Under the mustering-in oath, the men can be ordered by the President for service any place within the borders of the United States. They cannot, however, be ordered for service in a foreign country.

The men refused to take the federal oath which made them liable for six years of service.

By the terms of the mustering-in oath, the men will be obliged to pledge themselves to the service of the United States for the remainder

Water's Fine, So Lynn Horse Has a 3-Hour Plunge

LYNN came to bat with today's champion hot weather story, and here it is:

A horse belonging to J. E. McCall chafed in its stall on Hutchinson's wharf, Lynn, at the sound of the swishing waves around the pier. As the heat grew, the horse became more restive.

Finally, the steed broke its halter, took a running jump down the pier and dived twenty feet into the delicously cool waters of Lynn Harbor.

Police and fire departments were asked for aid, and patrolmen and fire fighters galore responded.

Three hours they tried, by every known means, to rescue the horse, but the animal just wouldn't be rescued.

Then a tug was chartered, the horse was lassoed and towed a mile across the harbor to the Nahant road beach. There the animal gave a whinney of joy and shook the cooling water from its flanks.

100 Massachusetts Recruits Start a Kansas City Riot

Kansas City, Mo., July 13.—"Rookies" of the Eighth Massachusetts Infantry, en route to the Mexican border, created a riot when their train pulled in at the Union Station here early today.

When the train arrived orders were issued for the soldiers to remain in their cars. The heat was stifling. More than 100 of the militiamen of the Eighth bolted from the cars and made a raid on Main street fruit stands near the station.

Most of the militia officers drew his revolver and threatened to shoot when his men would not obey. His threat was met with sneering remarks.

Fruit stands were destroyed, causing the owners to turn in a riot call for the police.

After the men returned to their cars Captain Porter B. Chase visited the scene of the fruit raids, inspected damage and paid the owners to send in a bill of complaint. The train left for the border a few hours later.

Think Man-Eating Shark Is Trapped in Creek

Matawan, N. J., July 13. — The shark that had already taken two lives along the New Jersey coast has added two more, possibly three, to his toll. He has been seen, and today great squads of men are attempting to capture or kill him in Matawan creek, where they believe they have him imprisoned.

His last victims were killed far up this creek, a mile and a half from its mouth. Within a few minutes, heavy wire netting was stretched across the creek mouth; and dynamite is being used in an effort to kill the shark or stun it so that it will come to the surface where it can be dispatched.

OTHERS HOOKED.

The shark believed to be trapped in Matawan Creek may not be the one responsible for earlier deaths, for other sharks have been hooked along the coast in the last few days.

But his responsibility for the deaths of two persons yesterday is certain; and the whole neighborhood has turned out to assist the search for him, as they would turn out to hunt down a human criminal.

The point where the latest attacks occurred is not far from New York City; and bathing beaches along the New York and New Jersey coast today were closely guarded for fear of another attack.

The shark to reach the point in the creek where the attack occurred here must have crossed part of New York bay and Matawan creek, sixteen miles from the ocean.

The shark which killed the two in the creek was seen by two men before the attack; and one of the victims, who was alive when he reached shore, said he saw the creature hanging to his leg before it tore away a great strip of flesh from waist to knee.

Those on shore at the same time saw the white belly of the shark flash as it turned on its back to attack.

Captain Thomas Cottrell, a retired sailor, caught a glimpse of a dark gray shape swimming rapidly in the shallow waters of Matawan creek as he crossed the trolley drawbridge a few hundred yards from town. He hurried back to town and spread the warning among the 2,000 residents that a shark had entered Matawan creek.

Everywhere the captain was laughed at. Grown-ups and children flocked to the creek as usual for their daily dip.

WARNINGS SCORNED.

The people of Matawan had been horrified by the tales of sharks which came to them from Spring Lake, Beach Haven, Asbury Park and the other coast resorts. They had been sympathetically affected by the reports of the death of Charles E. Vannant and Charles Brader. But those places were far away, and the tragedies had not touched them closely.

The death of a boy and youth here and the injury to another youngster were due to the refusal of almost every one to believe that sharks would ever enter the shoal waters where clamdiggers work at low tide. As long ago as Sunday Frank Slater saw the shark and told it everywhere. He stopped bathing the tale when everyone laughed him to scorn.

Then came Captain Cottrell's warning, and with that Lester Stilwell, twelve years old, might have been the only victim had it not been for the unfortunate coincidence that the boy suffered from fits. It was supposed that an attack in the water had caused him to sink, and rescuers, with no notion that a shark had dragged him down, entered the water fearlessly.

It was while trying to bring young Stilwell's body ashore that Stanley Fisher, son of Captain W. H. Fisher, retired commodore of the Savannah Line fleet, lost his life. The third victim, Joseph Dunn, twelve years old, was caught as he tried to leave the water, the alarm caused by Fisher's death at last having convinced the town that a shark really was in the creek.

Stilwell was the first to die. With several other days he had gone swimming off a disused steamboat pier at the edge of the town. He was a strong swimmer and so swam further out than his companions.

SEVEN BOYS HELD, AFTER WATCH THEFT

Seven youths were arrested today after the Newton police received word that a watch had been stolen from a carpenter's shop in West Newton. Neighbors told of seeing a number of boys board a freight train nearby, so the police asked the railroad to hold the train. John F. Connelly, fifteen, was accused of larceny. Those were charged with trespassing on railroad property: Patrick J. Koo, seventeen; John H. Cain, fifteen; Charles W. Bohannen, seventeen; Frank H. Burke, fourteen; Thomas J. Mackin, sixteen; Charles G. Heuser, seventeen. All the boys gave Boston addresses.

Injured by Explosion.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 13.—Four men were injured today, two of them probably fatally, in an explosion in the Semet-Solvay coke plant in Tonawanda.

The end of the fight—E. F. Warner, with revolver, and Herbert Savage, both of New York, dragging shark ashore after 35-minute fight at Beach Haven, N. J.

New York, July 13.—As a result of the ferocious attacks of man eating sharks at resorts along the New Jersey coast, shark shooting has become a popular sport. One of the man eaters was shot and killed the other day by two newspapermen of New York at Beach Haven, N. J., after an exciting fight. The men were E. F. Warner and Herbert Savage.

The shark had ventured close to shore and had seized a bait held out to him by the two men. They stood for thirty-five minutes before they succeeded in bringing the shark close enough to shore to enable Mr. Warner to send three bullets into his head. The shark thrashed the water fiercely for a few minutes, then gave up the fight.

The undertow was strong and it was necessary for Mr. Warner to jump into the water, take the shark by the tail and drag him to the beach. A large crowd watched the incident. The shark was of the blue nose variety, eight feet long. No fisherman could be found to identify the shark as being a man eater. That he could have bitten a man in two there is little doubt.

Until last week there never has been a case on record of a man being killed by a shark along the New Jersey coast. Experts are seeking a plausible explanation of the appearance of sharks in these waters. One theory is that there is a scarcity of fish and the sharks have been forced through hunger to attack bathers. A second theory is that there have been of late comparatively few steamships crossing the ocean, so that the sharks in the tropics, which have been wont to feast on the refuse thrown overboard, have been neglected.

Fishermen say that the Gulf Stream is working in toward the shore, and that the sharks are following it. Also it is said that the sharks have increased so enormously within the last few years that they travel in schools, and the larger the schools the more courageous and voracious they become.

WEATHER MAN SAYS 'COOLER'

The present heat ranges over the Atlantic and Gulf States, but the coolness from the Great Lakes is expected to move eastward and make life more endurable along the seaboard.

New York reported eight deaths directly due to heat. The official Manhattan temperature at 8 a. m. was 86. It jumped to 94 by 10 o'clock, but was two degrees cooler off than Boston at that, for the 10 o'clock temperature here was 86, the same as at 10 a. m. yesterday.

Two deaths today in Philadelphia from the heat made the total there seven. Six died in Detroit today and 132 persons were prostrated in one factory.

Weather Forecaster Frankenfield today sent out from Washington lots of little glooms. He said the hot wave that has lasted for several days throughout the eastern, central and western portions of the United States had given no indications of ending.

At 1 a. m. today Boston's temperature was 79 degrees, five warmer than at that hour yesterday. But the difference grew less as dawn approached, for yesterday morning's early temperatures rose two degrees between 1 and 6 a. m., while today's fell two degrees. Then the jump came, the mercury rose over two degrees an hour after 6 o'clock today, until it reached 86 degrees at 10.

Yesterday was the hottest of the season and the hottest day of the date since 1911. From 8 a. m. until midnight the mercury never dropped below 80. During six hours of the day it stayed in the 90's. At sundown it began to gradually fall from an even 90 to the even 80 touched at midnight.

"DANDY FIFTH" OF MASSACHUSETTS GUARDS FIFTY MILES OF BORDER

MILITIA MACHINE GUNS AT THE BRIDGES

By HARRY BENWELL.

El Paso, Tex., July 12.—With the Fifth Massachusetts "Somewhere in Texas" July 12. The entire Fifth Massachusetts Regiment with the exception of headquarters supply and two line companies, is now doing patrol duty on the border.

The regiment is patrolling a line fifty miles long, with El Paso in the centre and in many places the outposts are but a stone's throw from the Mexican outposts.

The outfit is split up into detachments and stationed at various places of military importance. Thus far there has been no trouble, but in some places the regular troops they relieved had clashes with the Mexicans.

A Company, Captain W. H. Wilson; C Company, Captain R. E. Magee, and the Machine Gun Company, Lieutenant Richard Stoher, are stationed at Camp Cement Works," as they call it. This post is located some miles out of El Paso, and is extremely important as two of the three entrances to El Paso, and is extremely important as two of the three entrances to El Paso are at this spot. They are the railroad bridges of the El Paso and Northwestern and the Santa Fe, the third entrance is the bridge which crosses from El Paso to Juarez.

CLOSE BRIDGE GUARD.

The two railroad bridges, together with a footbridge below them, are guarded night and day by the machine gun company, which is the first outfit of this kind to do duty at the bridges. The gun regiment is pleased that it was the first of the Massachusetts troops here to be sent out on border patrol. Camp Cement Flint is almost at the apex of a triangle formed by Texas, New Mexico and Mexico. Directly across the river near the end of the footbridge is a little blue house which is the headquarters of the revolutionists. Just behind it is the house in which Madero started his revolution.

At the New Mexico end of the bridge a machine gun is also stationed, and the crew are kept on duty continuously with regular reliefs. Two miles further out is an infantry outpost which is furnished by two infantry companies.

There are also sentries at the entrance to the tunnel, where the trains pass under the Sierra Madres Mountains, and on top of the tunnel entry lines are thrown out along the Rio Grande on the side of the camp, and a Mexican village on the same side is carefully watched.

Major Orville J. Whitney, who is in command of the camp, said today that there were more than 1,000 rifles concealed in this Mexican village. The only way the troops can confiscate these rifles is for the Mexicans to start using them.

HIDDEN MACHINE GUN.

Sergeant Milton C. Rogers has mounted a machine gun which is ingeniously concealed in a woodpile. This gun commands the bridges and the Mexican village.

This morning First Sergeant Fred P. Bradford took out the second gun squad with Sergeant Merle D. Penney to relieve Sergeant Frank E. Barber and his men who had been on duty. The men filed across the high railroad bridge, laughing and hoping that they would have a chance to use their guns.

Lieutenant K. P. Baerch has been assigned from the supply company to the machine gun company. By another day the company expects to be in position to meet any eventualities. Tonight the Mexican employes of the cement plant are paid off and it is expected that they may fill up on aguardiente and start something. In case they do they will be warmly received.

The companies drew fifteen days rations before starting out and each day truckloads of bread and beef and fresh vegetables are sent out to them by Captain Mark Smith, regimental quartermaster. Lieutenant Walter Smith of M Company handles the distribution of the food, assisted by quartermaster-Sergeant Leo Lucier.

The different kitchen details divide up the kitchen work and there are three cooks on duty at all times. The cement company has extended the use of its shower baths to the men and the only fly in the ointment is the dust, which is worse, if possible, than that at Camp Cotton.

Lieutenant William J. Bogrette, the adjutant, was married shortly before leaving Framingham and his thoughts turn frequently Bostonward.

SMELTER STATION.

G Company, Captain Frank H. Kean and Lieutenant William H. Mobbs, are stationed at the smelter, two miles away, at what regular army officers declare is the best post on the border. Captain Kean and Lieutenant Mobbs are quartered in a three-room house, with a shower bath and the tents of the company are pitched in a little park a few feet away. Waving cornfields surround the house, cool breezes circulate and at night for excitement the men go out and watch the red hot slag from the smelter being dumped.

There is a Mexican village here also, known as Texastown, and the dolo shacks in it are said to be filled with revolutionists, one of them was captured last night by Sheriff Fletcher, assisted by men of the company.

The sheriff learned of the presence of the revolutionist and requested a squad of the men from Captain Kean. This was furnished and the arrest followed. The smelter, which employes about 2,500 hands, is an enormous plant owned by the Guggenheims. The company has the use of shower baths and the men keep in trim by climbing a mountain in the rear of the camp and by playing baseball.

One of the most efficient men in the company is Sergeant J. Edward Graham, who was retired three years ago after serving for some years as captain of the company. He was a corporal in 98, serving with Lieutenant Harry J. Dougan of A Company of the Eighth.

Three years ago he was retired with the rank of a Major. When this trouble broke out he re-enlisted as a private and is now a sergeant.

2ND PREPARES WELCOME FOR ROOKIES

By WILLARD H. DAVIS.

Columbus, July 13.—Second Regiment Camp—A telegram, received today from Adjutant-General Cole, informing Colonel Phillip C. Hayes, saying that 537 recruits were on their way to the Second's camp on the border, resulted in a day of strenuous activities for the boys of Western Massachusetts.

Eager to welcome the rookies, the boys are hustling about laying out new company streets, laying water pipes and doing all sorts of stunts. The rookies who have been faithfully drilling at Framingham will find their new home in readiness. The troop train is expected to arrive at the camp Saturday.

Today the regular army camp routine started in earnest. Drills, long and strenuous, short marches, rifle and pistol practice, and lectures constituted the day's work, with an evening parade.

Captain Paul J. Norton, a prominent banker of Springfield and Adjutant to Colonel Hayes went to El Paso today to confer with Herbert B. Parker, State paymaster of the militia, relative to the pay the men are about to receive.

MAKE PERFECT PISTOL SCORES.

It was announced today by Lieutenant H. R. Hoyle, of the commissary department, that it cost $921 each day to feet the outfit, or about 25 cents for each meal.

There were three perfect scores made on the pistol range this morning. The men are:

Battalion Sergeant Major Harry H. Barr, Regimental Sergeant Major William T. Bullard, otherwise known as "Roaring Bill," and Sergeant John A. Coulter of the machine gun company. Lieutenant "Bert" Maddison, Springfield's truant officer, was a "bull's eye" but scored three points out of a possible five.

An order was posted on bulletin boards today ordering every man to take a bath at least once every four days, and to wash personal clothing every Wednesday and Saturday. The order also adds that a man may keep in touch with the soap and water just as often as he desires, but he must take a bath every four days.

"Red" Northridge, of C Company, Worcester, attended the broncho busting exercises on the baseball diamond. A tough old mule of the "Maude" variety was brought forth by some of the cow punchers who called for volunteers.

STILL GOING STRONG.

Immediately "Red" made his way through the crowd and announced that no mule in the world could get the best of him. Whereupon he walked up to the mule's ear whispered something to the nervous animal and ordered the men to throw on the saddle and place the bit in the mule's mouth.

With a hoot and a shout "Red" landed squarely on the frightened mule's back. Away he went down the cactus covered desert, headed straight for Deming, forty miles away. Of course the mule was rein-shy, and "Red," try as he might, couldn't guide the steed.

The last seen of private Northridge and his charge was a cloud of dust on the horizon. It is calculated that if the mule's wind holds out, and "Red's" courage and strength do not desert him, the pair should reach Deming by eight o'clock.

At any rate there was a man less at the mess of company C and one mule shy in the corral. Whether either the mule or "Red" shows up for the next mess remains to be seen.

Major A. G. Beckman, commander of the second battalion, while riding outpost, was thrown from his horse and badly shaken up. The first known of the accident was when the Major's horse returned to the camp riderless. Soon after, the Major returned, limping into headquarters. A hasty examination by Sugeon Gates disclosed nothing more serious than a severe bruises.

RECRUITS TRIED AS TRUANTS

By THOMAS F. PHELAN.

Peru, Ind., July 12—Aboard Bay State Recruits Troop Train—A court-martial was held aboard train and punishment meted out to Privates J. J. O'Connell, J. W. Joinette, James M. Coughlin, A. Danesse, W. McLoughlin, T. J. Moriarty, Ernest Swensen and B. F. Northridge.

They were charged with being absent from the train without leave. They were denied all privileges the remainder of the trip. The men stopped off at Cleveland. Several hours later the special was signalled to stop at Vermillion, Ohio, thirty-eight miles west of Cleveland. Twenty minutes afterward a local passenger train arrived with the truants.

PLACED UNDER ARREST.

Captains Stewart, Dee and Payne and Lieutenant Johnston, in full regimentals, greeted them. All were lined up after Captain Dee took their names.

"You men have been absent without leave," said Captain Stewart. "I'm not going to permit this sort of business. I have been keeping a list of delinquents. I see four men before me whose names are on that list. You are all under arrest. A summary court-martial will be held and you will be punished."

Private Moriarty got a rise in temperature and voiced his protests, saying he dropped off in Cleveland to get some medicine. All were marched up the line by the side of the cars and reviewed by their comrades.

Their arrest had a repressing effect on others. They were placed in a private compartment of a car and held there. They had to go without their noonday meal.

MILE HIKE AT BELLEVUE.

At Bellevue, Ohio, the train was halted two hours to allow the boys some exercise. They were taken on a hike of a mile or more. Mrs. J. A. Laporte, a graduate nurse, brought the boys sandwiches. She said her home town was Springfield and that she was well known in Boston. Girls swapped monograms with the soldiers, and postcards and other souvenirs were distributed.

Three men were overcome by the heat during the hike and were cared for by Captain Dee, Lieutenant Johnston and the medical corps.

A report that the water supply in Bellevue, Ohio, was tainted with typhoid germs caused Dr. Clyde Johnston to forbid the railroad men to fill the water tanks. Water was taken on at Continental, Ohio, seventy-eight miles west.

BELL SEES TRED AS NEW CHOW GUN

By HARRY A. BENWELL.

El Paso, July 12—Eighth Regiment Camp.—General Bell and his staff today inspected the rolling kitchen or "Chow Gun" of the Eighth Regiment. The general appeared much interested in the kitchen and was anxious to see it tried out.

I and E Companies of Cambridge, Captains H. Dwight Cushing and James A. McDade, were served by the kitchen today, and it is expected that it will cook for all Major Frank S. Elliott's battalion. The menu today for the two companies included corn chowder, roast beef, boiled potatoes, bread and butter, ice cream and coffee.

Captain William G. Rennick of the machine gun company continued the work of fitting up his automobile with machine guns. He is in hopes of completing it to his satisfaction today.

EXAMINE MEN'S FEET.

The regiment was inspected by Lieutenant-Colonel Jones, Major Woodworth and two regular army captains. They noted the lack of equipment, particularly underclothing, and examined carefully the feet of each man. The feet of many are in bad shape from ill-fitting shoes. Captain Thomas F. Brown of A Company and Captain Frank Runey of K Company have inspections of their men's feet twice weekly.

Many of the officers were planning to have their families come to El Paso. The women folks will be surprised at the improved appearance of the men despite the fact that the dust is thick.

Many of the men admire themselves each day, thinking they are tanned until they wash up, when they find out their mistake.

Lieutenant William A. McDade today installed a fine incinerator outside of A Company's kitchen.

Companies A, K and L were today vaccinated for smallpox by Lieutenant Wessels. It took little more than half an hour in the vaccination of men in three companies.

WANT TO RETURN.

Many of the married men have read that they will be allowed to go home and they are anxious to get away. Chaplain H. Boyd Edwards today found several more men whose families are destitute. One man has a wife and four children at home who have not a cent to live on.

C Company had the regimental guard today and Captain H. Dwight Cushing was officer of the guard.

Colonel Frank A. Graves appointed Captain Charles H. Moss of F Company as supervisor of the work of grading the camp and laying out street and sidewalks with cinders.

Captain Moss is a civil engineer. Private John H. Bradford of I Company who is also a civil engineer, is assisting him. P. W. Daly, street commissioner of El Paso, furnished a team of horses and a road scraper which was used all day levelling the company streets. Gardening are being planted behind the officers' tents.

Charges San Antonio Bars Men in Uniform

San Antonio, July 13.—Militia officials began an investigation of complaints made by their men that they were ousted from San Antonio restaurants and hotels because they were in uniform. Four members of an Illinois regiment, who, in private life, are club members in Chicago, were ordered off the dancing floor in an amusement park when they attempted to dance. Their partners were girls of prominent families in San Antonio.

'ARTILLERYMEN DO STUNTS FOR MOVING PICTURE MEN

By BERT FORD.

Camp Pershing, Morningside Heights, El Paso, July 12.—This was "movie day" in the camp of the First Massachusetts Field Artillery. Colonel John H. Sherburne, who is a member of the Massachusetts Legislature and a resident of Brookline, and who has become a mountain climber since settling on the border, was snapped from all points of the compass, as were his adjutant and particularly the members of Battery A.+.

The youngsters of Boston's most exclusive families cut up all sorts of capers, but not until they had carried out their army routine, for let it be recorded to the credit of the members of the crack battery, that they are soldiers first and good fellows afterwards.

While an International Film photographer snapped "stills" and a Hearst News Pictorial operator ground out "movies," Battery A boys rolled an upright piano out of a tent and held a musicale in the sun hot enough to broil steak. They gave a burlesque boxing bout, ran races and went through their daily drills with a snap that would have made the hearts of the folks back home pump with pride.

There isn't a harder working, pluckier or more earnest organization on the border, be it regular or volunteer, than Colonel Sherburne's command. All the batteries are fast whipping into condition, but the one that excites the most curiousity and comment down town is Battery A.

The natives and crowd of visitors in El Paso cannot get over the fact that the young Boston aristocrats in Major Richard K. Hales command should voluntarily face all the drudgery and discomforts of sun-baked alkali-ridden border when they might be basking in all the ease and joys of affluence at home.

And right in that thought, one finds the keynote of the object lesson given by these same young bluebloods. They came to fight and are willing and to face all that the regulars have to face, and they are turning the trick in a manner that has astonished the military experts here.

There isn't a huskier or happier band along the Rio Grande, nor is there any other unit from the Bay State living closer to army life. In that they have not taken, the trouble to board or screen their tents, outside of which, and often inside, too, crawl tarantulas and scorpions, horned toads, lizards, bull snakes and rattlers.

I was invited into tent after tent today, along both sides of Battery A's street, to find alkali dust two inches deep and cots strewn with rough blankets coated with dust, extra garments strung to ropes, shaving mirrors dangling from poles and suit cases with labels from all corners of the globe, half buried in the desert and the sternest kind of military discipline and obedience everywhere.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent in One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eyestrain, or do you expect to pass? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of the wonderful Ben-Optic prescription. One man says, after trying it, "I was almost blind and could not read a bill at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the following plan: Write this prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Ben-Optic Tablets. Then one Ben-Optic tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and bathe the eyes in this for a few minutes. Blink the eyes two to four times daily. You should see almost perfectly clear vision right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are badly weak, watery or itchy, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind right have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Ben-Optic is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained at any active drug store. I feel sure it will prove of great benefit to many readers who have defective vision or need eyeglasses, and I feel safe in saying that for normal use in almost every family."

MAINE'S OUTFIT AWAITS ITS RATIONS

By GEORGE E. HANSON.

Laredo, Tex., July 12.—Second Infantry Camp. — Failure to send the Second Maine Regiment food supplies delayed the departure of the Second Battalion to its post for border patrol, about twenty miles this side of Fort Zapata. The guard was ordered to depart yesterday. The rations are not here yet.

As soon as the food does arrive, perhaps sometime today, the infantry companies D, E, G and H will hike over the desert to its part of the frontier. To F Company was assigned the guard of the big wooden bridge just this side of Austin.

Each battalion of the regiment is expected to put in from ten to twenty days on border patrol in order to give the regulars, now doing that work, a furlough. Besides the failure of rations to appear, the consignment of sixty-five saddle horses, promised daily, were not in sight last night.

While the boys are awaiting their order to move, they enjoy sports of all sorts. Baseball is the favorite, of course. The Machine Gun company yesterday put it all over G Company's nine in a fast game by a score of six to four.

BREAK IN HUB RECRUITS AT PLATTSBURG

Plattsburg, July 13.—Boston's third delegation of citizen rookies arrived in Plattsburg and was immediately put to work. This latest contingent numbers close to 700. The delegation includes a number of Boston's prominent business men.

Immediately after their arrival they were given a taste of army life when they were commanded to "fall in" and arrange their tents. They then marched to dinner. The Boston men had it comparatively easy, despite the fact that the day was the hottest ever experienced at Plattsburg.

The Juniors from Boston, organized a few days ago, partially prepared the camping ground for the Seniors, setting up tents and sacrificing their own mattresses that the Seniors might sleep on real hair mattresses. The Juniors are content with bags stuffed with straw.

No one is known by name to the military authorities as yet, but each has a number and will go by that for the next few days. Today uniforms and kits were issued, and the men assigned to their companies. At present the Boston bunch presents a motley appearance, some in white flannels of Palm Beach trousers with khaki coats and army hats, but always with the red, white and blue cords encircling their campaign hats.

MEXICAN REFUGEES RETURN TO HOMES

Douglas, Ariz., July 13.—Two trains filed with Mexican families who abandoned their homes when war seemed imminent have returned to Agua Prieta from Nacozari. The Mexicans report great suffering in camps established in Sonora to care for the refugees. Lack of food and improper sanitary arrangements were responsible for many deaths, it was claimed.

Report Big Victory for Villistas

to his agents on the border. Through them it reached American officials and was regarded of sufficient importance to forward to Washington. It was a flat defiance of the United States government. Governor Pershing's punitive expedition was sent into Mexico to "get Villa." Its work was balked by the attack on American soldiers at Parral. Now Villa proclaims his strength.

Villa's defiance follows the receipt by military officials here, from unofficial sources, that Villa has completely routed the Carranza forces in southern Chihuahua after a fierce twelve-hour battle.

The information was received through reliable American mining companies who have large interests in the vicinity of Parral. The first message sent from a small station near Parral said:

"Big operations south of here."

A second message received later said:

"Villa controls"

General Gonzales, the Carranza commander at Juarez, and Consul Garcia said they had been unable to get an official report of the battle. This silence is accepted as significant by the American army officials. It is not the custom of the Mexicans to report a defeat.

Every report that has reached El Paso and other points along the border the past twenty-four hours indicated that Villa has been successful in all engagements with the Carranzista army since he began his latest activities.

With the fear that he seems to be able to inspire in the breast of his Mexican people he has gathered around him an army today that is estimated to number between 5,000 and 8,000 men. A late report is that 3,000 Yaqui Indians from the Sonora district are on their way to join the outlaw's forces.

SILENCE IS OMINOUS.

Yesterday the Mexican officials only reported that General Ernesto Garcia had rallied from Parral to drive back the Villistas. Today the Mexican officials maintained a discreet silence and this was taken as a sure sign that Garcia had been whipped. The same thing occurred within the past week when 3,000 Carranzista cavalry were sent to defeat General Contreras. So far as official confirmation is concerned that force completely disappeared.

American government agents today came into possession of additional evidence that seems to prove that Villa is being aided by the treason of Carranza officers. One unconfirmed rumor that came to the border was that General Jacinto Trevino had been ordered relieved of his command at Chihuahua City, had barricaded with rebel leaders and had gone over to Villa's army. Trevino has been known for a long time as a jealous rival of Minister of War Obregon. He is said to have been obsessed by the idea that Obregon was using Carranza only as a figurehead and was only awaiting a suitable time to throw aside the mask and come out himself as the ruler of Mexico.

RUMORS OF PLOT.

Trevino several weeks ago, according to reports of secret service agents, began plotting to offset Obregon's program. It was about this time that Canuto Reyes and Calixto Contreras "accepted amnesty" with great ostentation. Reyes and Contreras are old Villa chieftains.

The course of Mexican affairs thus running may necessitate some change in the councils on in Washington, but apparently it will not change the plans for a complete border patrol, which are hourly going into effect. Motor trucks loaded with militiamen roll through El Paso for the open country east and west, where men are being posted on border patrol duty.

From Columbus comes word that citizens in San Simon Valley district, near the New Mexico-Arizona-Mexican boundary lines want cavalry to guard them. Raiders are reported to have assembled in threatening numbers through the valley and the citizens fear another Mexican raid across the border.

Raids and looting by renegades and Carranzista soldiers are reported by refugees from the Sonora district. The refugees from that district are in deep distress and starvation is one of the problems with which they have to contend.

U. S. Withdraws Warships from Mexico

Washington, July 13.—The gradual withdrawal of American forces, both military and naval, from Mexico and Mexican waters, is indicated in official quarters here today.

Acting upon the suggestion of the State Department, the Navy Department is ordering United States war craft from Mexican waters.

That the land movement northward towards the border of Pershing's punitive expedition may soon be general is forecasted in a message from field headquarters in Mexico today. General Pershing's dispatch to the War Department indicated that he was doubtful whether he would be able longer to keep open his line of communications to the United States.

Pershing is investigating to see whether recent heavy rains have not impaired the roadways so much as to force him to shorten his lines of communication, which will mean his movement northwards at an early date.

General Pershing says he will know within two days what course of action is best.

The commander reports a better feeling existing between Mexicans and the American troops and his belief in that all the difficulties between the United States and Mexico have been settled. His dispatch follows:

"Mexicans in this vicinity along the railroad are reported very friendly towards Americans during the last few days. It is generally believed that the trouble between the United States and Mexico is settled.

"The rainy season is on in earnest, heavy rains being reported at various stations along the lines of communication during the last few days. Shall report within a day or two on the effect of the rains upon the roads and as to the general prospects regarding further maintenance of the roads."

Confident of the successful outcome of the negotiations under way to settle differences between the American government and the de facto government of Mexico, the United States has begun a gradual withdrawal of warships now in Mexican waters.

The destroyer tender Panther and the destroyers Flusser, Walke, Sterrett and Lamson were withdrawn today from Mexican duty. They had formed a part of the flotilla of fast vessels which had been held in readiness to blockade every Mexican port.

AMERICAN CRAFT LOST OFF MEXICO

Washington, July 13.—The French consul at Progreso, Mex., who is representing American interests there, reported to the State Department that the American schooner Caviara, owned by Saunders & Co., of Pensacola, Fla., was wrecked on the Alacranes reefs July 7. The captain and crew were saved and brought to Progreso.

STAY-AT-HOMES MUST TAKE OATH AND SERVE OUT ENLISTMENTS

g the periods for which they enlisted in the Massachusetts militia. The enlistment period usually is three years. General Cole says that a militiaman who has served one year for the State can be compelled to serve the remaining two years in the organized militia of the United States.

General Cole says that it is because of the generally muddled conditions resulting from the passage of the National Defence bill, which is believed to have counteracted only certain provisions of the Dick bill, that he is prompted to submit the matter to the legal authorities of the State. They are expected to decide just what form of order the Governor can issue.

The men who refused to take the Federal oath are members of the Massachusetts units now on service in Texas.

A desire by the War Department to raise the units to war strength is believed by General Cole to have caused them to issue this order.

UNFAIR, SAYS COLE.

In reply to rumors that a large number of members of the First Corps of Cadets had refused to take the federal oath, Adjutant-General Cole said today:

"There are 220 men in the corps, and all but fifty-two took the oath; a particularly good showing.

"I don't blame any one for refusing to take the oath. It is unfair, in my mind, to expect a man who has served ten years or so in the militia, and who has only a year to serve, to obligate himself to six years more of service, and to lay himself liable to be sent to a foreign country, to relinquish his business and to give up his home."

DETAILED TO CAMP.

General Cole ordered these officers to report to Camp Whitney for the recruiting campaign:

Major Charles F. Sargent of the Inspector-General's department, Major Kingsley A. Burnham of the Ordnance Department, Lieutenant Edwin B. Nielsen of the Medical Corps.

STATE-WIDE CRUSADE FOR RECRUITS

In view of the fact that 1,000 more men are needed to bring the Massachusetts militia organizations up to war strength, the War Department will on Monday inaugurate a recruiting campaign throughout the State.

Adjutant-General Cole today, as a result of official instructions from the department, ordered twenty officers and sixty men from the militia bodies to remain at home for recruiting duty.

The men were drawn from the Coast Artillery Corps and from the First Corps of Cadets.

It is understood that automobiles with recruiting literature will go through the State.

Adjutant-General Cole suggested to the War Department that recruiting stands be set up at Fenway Park, where on Monday there will be a benefit ball game for the families of soldiers at the border, and that a recruiting appeal be made to the crowd at the game.

MAGEE CHILD IS AWARDED TO MOTHER

After a lengthy fight in the Probate Court of Norfolk county Judge Flint today awarded the custody of Aseath Magee, eleven-year-old daughter of Charles A. Magee and his former wife, now Mrs. William Mitchell, to his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell have also legally adopted the child, so that their control over it is two-fold.

The marital affairs of Magee and his wife have occupied the attention of the courts for five years.

Magee is employed as a private secretary of officials of the Calumet & Hecla Mining Company. He and his wife were divorced in the Fall of 1911. Several months later, William Mitchell of the Plant Shoe Company was divorced from his wife, and a later Mitchell and Mrs. Magee were married in New Jersey. Two years latter, they were re-married in Massachusetts.

At the time of the Magee divorce, Magee had been ordered to pay alimony. In December, 1914, he brought suit, claiming that his wife had collected alimony from him for fourteen months after she married Mitchell.

George W. Anderson acted as her attorney, and Thomas W. Proctor appeared for Magee in the subsequent proceedings, and the question of proper expenditure for the education of the child figured largely in the alimony proceedings.

MRS. WHEELER WINS PLEA FOR ALIMONY

Mrs. Claudia Carlatedi Wheeler, who leaped into stage fame as "The Girl in the Red Tights" in "The Idol's Eye," and who is well known in the Back Bay and Brookline, has won her plea in the Supreme Court of New York for back alimony from Albert Gallatin Wheeler, Jr., according to dispatches today from Manhattan.

Justice Ford of the New York court has appointed James A. Lynch receiver of Wheeler's property upon his wife's contention that he is either out of town or is secreting himself.

Mr. Wheeler is a member of the New York stock Exchange, the Union League Club, the New York Athletic Club and other organizations. His wife, who formerly was on the stage, obtained a separation in 1912 with $300 a month alimony.

Mrs. Wheeler recently attempted to serve an order on her husband in the Union League Club requiring him to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt for the non-payment of $4,000 back alimony. She and the process server were ejected from the club. Later Mr. Wheeler asked that the order be rescinded, as he wished to open a business office and was unable to transact his business properly from the Union League Club.

Justice Delehanty said he would rescind the order if Mr. Wheeler would give $5,000 bond assuring his presence when wanted within the State. This Mr. Wheeler refused to do and the case has been in abeyance since.

In her affidavit Mrs. Wheeler says she is destitute. Justice Ford directed the receiver to possess himself of the real and personal property of Mr. Wheeler.

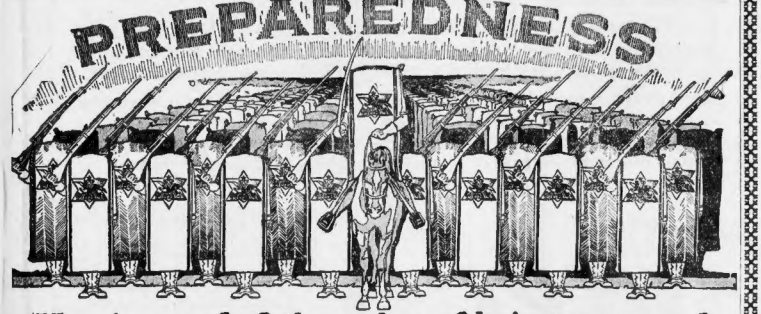
PREPAREDNESS



Here's proof of the value of being prepared

We are for National preparedness.

We have proved the value to any organization, whether it be government or manufacturer, of being prepared for the unexpected.

It has been an established rule of this institution to lay in our supplies of materials far in advance of their actual need.

We've done this with the Saazer Hops which we use exclusively in Budweiser, Michelob, Muenchener and our new soft drink Bevo—always a two-year advance supply. Preparedness.

During the summer of 1914, one of our officials, while on his annual hop buying trip abroad selected and purchased 275,000 lbs. (1350 bales) of the choicest Saazer Hops—and had them shipped to this country before the embargo was rigidly enforced in March, 1915—preparedness. Add this to the large stock on hand, and you will see how secure preparedness has made our position.

Our supply is sufficient to last at least until the closing days of 1918.

Preparedness pays.

AMERICANS MAY SAIL ABROAD ON U-LINER

DEFINED WARFARE RULES.

In several notes to the various belligerent powers this government has defined clearly the rules of naval warfare affecting the rights of merchantmen and the duties of war vessels. These rules apply with full force to the merchantman Deutschland, and the American citizens taking passage on her will be given the entire protection of the United States.

In the first Lusitania note to Germany the State Department said:

* * * The lives of non-combatants, whether they be of neutral citizenship or citizens of one of the nations at war not lawfully or rightfully put in jeopardy by the capture or destruction of an unarmed merchantman.

Germany, the note assumed, recognized also, "the obligation to take the usual precautions of visit and search."

American citizens within their indispensable rights, are taking their ships, and in traveling wherever their legitimate business calls them upon the high seas, exercise those rights in what should be the well justified confidence that their lives will not be endangered by acts done in clear violation of universally acknowledged international obligations, and certainly in the confidence that their own government will sustain them in the exercise of their rights.

In other notes the United States declared:

The lives of non-combatants cannot be put in jeopardy by the capture or destruction of unresisting merchantmen, and to recognize the obligation to take sufficient precaution to ascertain whether a suspected merchantman is in fact of belligerent nationality, and that nothing but actual forcible resistance of continued efforts to escape by flight when ordered to stop for the purpose of visit by the merchantmen has ever been held to forfeit the lives of her passengers or crew.

Germany, in her reply to the American note threatening to sever diplomatic relations as a result of the attack on the Sussex, an English Channel steamer, declared she was "prepared to confine the operations of the war for the rest of its duration to the fighting forces of the belligerents."

Where American interest are involved in allied operations it was declared this Government must hold the allied powers to a similar course or else be put in the position of holding Germany to a "strict accountability," while ignoring the unlawful practices of Germany's enemies.

The North German Lloyds has received from persons in all parts of the country offers running as high as $50,000 for the privilege of taking passage on the submarine Deutschland on her return trip.

"We have letters from some persons," said a representative of the company, "who said they would pay any price we wanted. There was one $50,000 offer, several of $10,000 and virtually scores running from $1,000 to $5,000. Nearly all of them came from Americans."

Unless American citizens were aboard the Deutschland, when attacked, State Department officials said, there would be no ground for the United States to protest against the destruction of the liner, and no reason for the State Department to make an inquiry of the allied nation whose warships had destroyed the Deutschland.

There will be no government objection, so far as can be learned, to the taking on of passengers by the Deutschland. Inspector-General George Uhler, of the federal steamboat inspection service, said the Deutschland could carry passengers, but first would have to comply with the American law requiring that passenger vessels have a certain number of lifeboats, life belts, hose, etc.

He believes the Deutschland could be equipped with these if Captain Paul Koenig, her commander, consented to take one or more passengers.

Spring-Rice Confers on Boat

Washington, July 12.—Ambassador Spring-Rice of Great Britain, this afternoon talked for fifteen minutes with Acting Secretary of State Polk about the status of the German submarine Deutschland. Ambassador Spring-Rice denied that he filed today with Mr. Polk a protest against the vessel being used by this government as a merchantmen. He said nothing further would be done until the State Department officially announced its decision concerning the status of the submarine.

WAR SUMMARY

Interest shifted to Verdun today, where the Germans delivered a smashing attack that resulted in the capture of some 2,000 French prisoners, and allowed them to advance —the French officially admit—to the chapel at the intersection of the Vaux and Fleury roads.

This point is just over two miles from Verdun itself.

The chapel mentioned in the French official report is at the foot of the little knoll upon which Fort Souville stands; and Fort Souville, according to the French report today, is under a terrific bombardment on three sides by the Germans.

Verdun's situation is critical; and until the attacks in Picardy become strong enough to force the Germans to withdraw troops, the fate of the fortress will hang in the balance.

The Picardy front is the scene of strenuous fighting, but the results are not important. The British and French are swaying back and forth along a battle line north of the Somme, but the gains and losses are small and unimportant. The Germans recaptured Mametz Wood in part—and the English took it away from them again. The same thing happened in Trones Wood.

The whole British front is today either at or behind the points reached in the first rush, July 2. Nowhere has a further advance been registered.

The Germans report repulsing attacks by the French south of the Somme. The French claim no gains in that locality. It is not probable that Peronne will be assaulted until the British have advanced sufficiently to protect the French left flank.

Russian and Teutonic reports agree that the Teutons are holding the Russians in Galicia and Poland. The Russians do not claim any advance, but report two German attacks which they say were repulsed.

GERMANS LAUNCH NEW ATTACK WITH BIG FORCES AT VERDUN

By CHARLES F. BERTELLI,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, July 13.—German forces operating east of the Meuse River have opened a direct bombardment of terrific power against Fort Souville, one of the defences defending Verdun on the northeast.

The official communique issued by the French War Office today states that the Germans are bombarding not only Fort Souville, but also the French positions in Chenois wood and Laufee works.

Fort Souville and the Laufee works appear to be the immediate objective of the Germans who are attacking on the Verdun front with heavy masses in an evident attempt to distract the French from their efforts on the Somme.

Fresh German regiments are being used at Verdun and are being hurled forward against the French positions with utter disregard for human life.

There was no infantry action last night on that section of the Somme front held by the French.

The text of the official communique follows:

"On the Somme front there was an intermittent cannonade.

"In Champagne we penetrated on the outskirts of Prosnes into the German salient and brought back some prisoners.

"In the Argonne two surprise attacks launched by the enemy against forces north and east of the Bolante salient, were checked by our fire. At La Fille Morte we set off a mine and occupied the southern edge of the crater.

"On the right bank of the Meuse no infantry action developed during the night. The bombardment was intense in the sectors of Souville, Chenois and Laufee.

"In the Vosges an attack by the enemy on one of our trenches south of Carspach after a very sharp grenade conflict was repulsed."

U-BOAT SINKS 2 BRITISH TRAWLERS

By International News Service.

Scarborough, England, July 13.—The trawlers Florence and Dalhousie have been sunk by a German submarine. The crews were landed today.

Italians Repel New Attacks by the Austrians

By International News Service.

Rome, July 13.—Austro-Hungarian attacks in the region of Malaga and Monte Zugna were repulsed by Italian troops on Wednesday, says an official statement of the War Office today.

The Austro-Hungarian troops were forced back and suffered heavy losses.

The text of the official report follows:

"In Camonica valley there has been marked activity on the part of the enemy artillery, particularly in the region of Tonale. Yesterday in the Adige valley after a tremendous bombardment, the enemy attacked positions northwest of Malaga and Monte Zugna, but was driven back with heavy losses by our concentrated artillery fire. On the remainder of the front as far as the Brenta we have heavily shelled the enemy's lines. We attacked with success at some points. There were only unimportant events on the Isonzo."

Held on Break Charge.

George W. Johnson was arraigned today charged with breaking and entering in the night time a building on Appelton street occupied by the Williamson Window Wonder, Inc. The court held Johnson in $1,500 for the Grand Jury.

BERLIN ADMITS BRITISH HAVE RECAPTURED CONTALMAISON

By International News Service.

Berlin, July 13.—That the British have recaptured Contalmaison on the Somme front was admitted today by the German War Office. On the eastern front the forces of General von Bothmer drove back the Russians at Alesza, capturing 400 prisoners. The report follows:

"Eastern front—General von Bothmer's army, by means of encircling counter-attacks north of Olesza and northwest of Buczacz, drove back the Russian troops, taking over 400 prisoners.

South of the Somme on Wednesday the French had no success, although they combated a series of attacks on both sides of Barleux, as well as west of Estrees. Our curtains of fire drove them back with heavy losses.

East of the Meuse the artillery is active. The infantry positions won by us have been consolidated. The prisoners have been increased by 17 officers and 243 men, bringing the totals up to 58 officers and 2,349 men.

Near Frelinghein and La Hasse Canal, there has been rifle firing. On the height east of Badonvillers and near Hirzbach, German patrols carried out successful engagements.

"At Soissons, a French biplane was compelled to land within our lines."

NORWEGIAN SHIP ASHORE ON LANGLEY

St. Pierre, Miquelon, July 13.—The Norwegian ship Inder, bound from Nova Scotia to Bristol, has gone ashore on the west point of Langley island and will probably be a total wreck.

BOMBARD ALLIES' LINE IN MACEDONIA

Saloniea, July 13.—Patrols were active on both sides along the Macedonian front on Wednesday according to an official communique issued at headquarters of the allied forces today. There was an intense bombardment on the centre.

Band to Aid.

The committee in charge of Soldiers' Relief Fund Day at Fenway Park next Monday announced that the Sixth Regiment Band volunteered its services in a concert besides assisting in the militia drills.

GERMANS MAKE DETERMINED STAND AGAINST THE RUSSIANS

By International News Service.

Petrograd, July 13.—In their efforts to save Kovel, the Germans are making a determined stand along the Stokhod River, where they have massed every available reserve. At numerous points big gun duels are raging across the stream.

The Germans are fighting desperately to prevent the Russians from gaining a firm foothold on the western bank of the river and have taken up strong positions. Enormous masses of guns are concentrated at the river crossings.

Cavalry is playing an important part in the fighting in this region, the Russians employing Cossacks for screening their infantry in attacks upon the German trenches.

In the district about Janowka the fighting is especially violent. The Russians, fighting with marked gallantry, have delivered repeated attacks upon the Germans, driving in their lines and inflicting severe losses.

For the time being it is evident General Brusiloff has concentrated his endeavors on forcing a breach in the German front in Volhynia. The importance of the fighting here is apparent from the severity of the attacks and the great masses of men used by both sides. The extent of the German reserve force and the resiliency of the German lines have proved two remarkable factors.

However, in spite of the tensity of the German resistance, military critics believe that Kovel is doomed and that eventually it will be firmly in the district about Janowka the fixed in the hands of the Russians.

Artillery Duels Are Raging on Somme Front

By SYDNEY B. CAVE,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, July 13.—Only heavy artillery duels were reported on the Somme front in the official statement on operations issued by the War Office at noon.

There has been no material change in the positions ever night. On both sides the big guns were kept in action all night and both the German and British positions were under heavy shell fire. The English have strongly organized the ground gained from the Germans in Mametz wood.

Following is the text of the official report:

"Heavy artillery duels have taken place in certain sectors of the battle area (Somme front), but no change has occurred in the positions at any part of the line.

"West of Wytschaete and south of the La Bassee canal the enemy attempted raids, but in every case he was driven off by our fire. Despite unfavorable weather our aeroplanes are constantly working.

"Hostile machines are active. All attacks on our aeroplanes operating over the German lines have been driven off. One of our machines is missing."

BOY PLEADS GUILT IN SPRINGFIELD CASE

Springfield, July 13.—George Proulx, alias George Ehrke, only fifteen years old, who has committed at least a dozen burglaries, has broken out of three prisons and is suspected of the attempt to chloroform the Misses Kathleen and Marian Swift, as they were sleeping in their home at No. 62 Kimberly avenue, Monday morning, pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking and entering in the Police Court today. Judge Heady ordered Proulx held until July 21 in bail of $2,000.

MILK COMPANY IS FINED $155 TODAY

Professor James O. Jordan of the Bureau of Milk Inspection was the complainant against the Farmers' Milk Company in the South Boston court today. On six counts of having milk for sale below the standard the concern was fined $105, and on an additional charge of removing cream from milk was fined $50. An appeal was entered.

ROXBURY MAN IS DROWNED IN QUINCY

Joseph Levovich of No. 10 Gardner street, Roxbury, who has been visiting Frank Kauffman in Quincy recently, went swimming today with his chum in a quarry hole in Quincy, got over his depth and was drowned in water six feet deep. A diver was put to work to recover the body.

WILSON SERVES NOTICE UPON HYPHENATES

Washington, July 13. — President Wilson today served notice on "Hyphenates" and "New comers" that they must be loyal to the United States whether they are pleased with this country or not. He charged that political activity of any organization of naturalized Americans is "Absolutely incompatible with the idea of loyalty."

The President addressed the Citizenship convention, in session here, called by the Bureau of Naturalization of the Department of Labor to study best methods for teaching foreigners what is necessary to become citizens of the United States.

"We have been disturbed recently by certain symptoms which have shown themselves in our body politic." President Wilson said, referring to some naturalized Americans. "They have gone so far as to draw themselves apart and have been more loyal to their native country than to America."

WHAT LOYALTY MEANS.

"They have even gone so far as to draw apart in spirit and in organization from the rest of us to accomplish some special object of their own," the President continued. "I am not here going to utter any criticism of these people, but I want to say this, that such a thing as that is absolutely incompatible with the fundamental idea of loyalty, and that loyalty is not a self-pleasing virtue.

"I am not bound to be loyal to the United States to please myself. I am bound to be loyal to the United States because I live under its laws and am its citizen, and whether it hurts me or whether it benefits me I am obliged to be loyal.

"Loyalty means nothing unless it has at its heart the absolute principle of self-sacrifice. Loyalty means that you ought to be ready to sacrifice every interest that you have and your life itself, if your country calls upon you to do so, and that is the sort of loyalty which ought to be inoculated into these newcomers, that they are not to be loyal so long as they are pleased, but that, having once entered into this sacred relationship, they are bound to be loyal whether they are pleased or not; and that loyalty which is merely self-pleasing is only self-indulgence and selfishness.

EASY TO LOSE TEMPER.

"It is easy to lose your temper and hard to keep it. It is easy to strike and sometimes very difficult to refrain from striking, and I think you will agree with me that we are most justified in being proud of doing things that are hard to do and not the things that are easy.

"You do not settle things quickly by taking what seems to be the quickest way to settle them.

"You may make the complication just that much the more profound and inextricable, and, therefore, what I believe America should exalt above everything else is the sovereignty of thoughtfulness and sympathy and vision as against the passions implanted of mankind.

"No nation can live without vision and no vision will exalt a nation except the vision of real liberty and of real justice and purity of conduct."

FILM SCOOP BY HEARST NEWS PICTORIAL

The greatest scoop in the history of moving pictures has been accomplished by the International Film Service, in filming the arrival of the new famous German submarine Deutschland. The pictures of this wonderful craft are in the Hearst International News Pictorial, which was released in this city today and which is now showing at the leading picture theatres throughout New England.

In commenting on this great accomplishment, Manager Frank H. Vine when seen at the New England offices of the company at No. 63 Carver street, stated: "It is the aim of our company to give to the people the big news first. We are striving to operate our news pictorial on the same plan as a metropolitan newspaper.

"We are the only organization in existence that is able to accomplish this end, because of our affiliations with the world-famous Hearst organization.

"Through our newspaper connections, we learned that the Deutschland would arrive at Baltimore on Monday. On Sunday our camera men were dispatched from New York, Washington and Philadelphia.

"Arriving at Baltimore, they immediately chartered a harbor tug and went out to meet the submarine and accompanied it into the harbor. We were the only film concern represented.

"Thirty minutes after the craft has docked our men were on their way back to New York in an automobile, carrying with them the films of the ship, which, by its remarkable journey, revolutionized the commercial and marine history of the world.

"Great haste and care was taken in developing the films at our New York factory, and within fifteen hours after the great sea wonder had reached American waters the pictures were projected on the screens of thirty-five New York theatres, thereby accomplishing and placing the Hearst International News Pictorial on a par with daily newspapers.

"By this accomplishment the Hearst International News Pictorial has certainly justified its title as 'The Newspaper of the Screen.' Just as the Hearst newspapers have recorded in their pages famous 'beats,' which have been scored over rival publications, so the Hearst News Pictorial is proud of its achievement in showing the first motion pictures of this history-making marine occurrence.

"This proves our superiority on account of our connection with the greatest newspaper organization in the world."

3 NEW PLAGUE CASES IN BAY STATE

Three new cases of infantile paralysis were reported to the State Department of Health today.

This makes a total of twenty-three cases under surveillance by the State health authorities.

The new cases are of Marie Drea, aged seven, at Raynham, Alex Mixa at Westfield, and Rachel Cohen, two, at Holyoke. The Mixa case is the fifth in Westfield.

The Drea girl went to Raynham from Hyde Park on July 5. Co-operating with the Boston health authorities, the State department will endeavor to trace the cause of infection in Hyde Park.

The Holyoke case was the first in that city. The victim is Rachel Cohen, two years and one month old. The baby with her mother and another child are visiting Louis Cohen on Park street. They arrived in Holyoke from New York city Saturday. The Holyoke Board of Health has taken steps to have all children in the vicinity examined.

24 MORE NEW YORK PARALYSIS DEATHS

New York, July 13.—Twenty-four deaths from infantile paralysis was the official record today for the past 2. hours, an increase of seven over the day before. Of these, eighteen occurred in Brooklyn. There are now 632 cases of the disease under treatment in hospitals, most of them in Kings County.

NEW HAVEN DROPS 'PAPER THEFT' CASE

William Saxton, who was charged last week with the theft of two sheets of paper from the New Haven railroad and was found not guilty by Judge Day, the latter having given Arthur Blackman, attorney for the corporation, a week's time to file a brief, appeared in the South Boston court today with his attorney, Frank Slattery. Mr. Blackman failed to put in an appearance and Judge Day told Saxton to go. Saxton applied for a position as a brakeman and was handed two application blanks which he later tore up.

BIRTH CONTROL CRUSADE ON IN BOSTON

A Boston campaign for the dissemination of knowledge in the matter of birth control, put under way at a mass meeting in the Maverick Church, East Boston, last night, was already attracting wide attention today.

The widespread interest in the subject has been evidenced by the large numbers who have flocked to see the film play, "Where are my Children?" dealing with the topic and which is being presented at the Majestic Theatre.

Three hundred people attended the mass meeting at the East Boston church last night and a number of speakers discussed the subject from various angles.

Birth control is not an obscenity, they urged. It is a measure for the future welfare of the race.

ARREST PROTESTED.

The meeting was called primarily as a protest against the arrest of Van K. Allison, co-editor of "The Flame," a Socialistic paper. He was charged with distributing obscene literature. The charge was based upon a pamphlet dealing with the matter of birth control.

His trial has been set for tomorrow morning; and the speakers at the meeting last night urged that those present attend the trial.

Two-thirds of the audience was made up of women; and they applauded the speakers to the echo.

Among those who spoke beside Mr. Allison were Dr. Antoinette Konikow, the Rev. George Grover Mills (pastor of the church), and Miss Ella B. West, a Jamaica Plain settlement worker.

USE LEGAL METHODS.

Dr. Charles Fleischer was invited to speak, but sent a letter explaining his inability to attend.

In opening the speaking the Rev. Mr. Blanchard said in part:

"We are here on the Lord's business. The efforts to start the general spread of the knowledge of birth control is most popular with the plain people of Boston. I do not mean with the platforms.

"We are not here to do anything illegal, neither shall we attempt it in the spreading of our message. We shall fight the State and Federal laws by the most legitimate methods. Those of public opinion."

"Birth control is an economic necessity," he said. "Thousands of illegal operations are performed yearly because of the ignorance about the prevention of conception. Thousands of babies are born unwanted and unloved.

"Thousands more are born blind or insane every year. The orphan and charitable asylums are filled with hundreds of babies that should never have been brought into this world; scores of foundlings live miserable lives in institutions because their parents did not want them. Because of ignorance in the matter of birth control thousands of women die yearly."

NOW ON THE ROAD TO GOOD HEALTH

Boston Lady Gives Entire Credit to Plant Juice for Her Recovery to Health.

There is a modern remedy for all stomach, liver and kidney troubles that is magical in its effect, and that is Plant Juice, the new herbal tonic and remedy. It rectifies the wrong done to the body by getting at the roots of the trouble, it feeds the nerve fendrils vigor and vitality, and they in turn feed the different functions and organs this same strength. It does its work quietly and thoroughly and makes a permanent cure.

Hundreds have testified to this truth. One of the latest signed statements received from local people is that of Mrs. Mary McNabb, who lives at No. 263 Dorchester street and is a well-known Boston lady, having resided here for the past 25 years, where she has many of friends. She says:

"For five years I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia. My stomach was all bloated with gas and I suffered agony after eating. I could not sleep at night. I was dizzy and had such severe headaches that it seemed as if I had a tight band around my head; I had pains all over my body and felt tired all the time with no ambition or energy to do anything; I became so weak and nervous I could not attend to my household duties. I was in the habit of going to the hospital, which I did, but got no permanent relief. A friend called to see me one day and told me she said she thought it would help me. I told her that it did not do any good as I can truthfully say that it has cured me. I feel twenty years younger; I can eat any kind of food I want to and have no more aches or pains. Plant Juice has made a new woman of me and I am only too glad to recommend it to others."

The Plant Juice Man is at the Drug Department of the Houghton & Dutton Store, where he is daily meeting the public and incredulous and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

Father of Day-Old Baby Killed in Lobster Boat

Samuel Gill, father of two children, one of whom was born yesterday, went out from Hough's neck with his brother, Joe, and his father, Manuel, in their motorboat to look at their lobster pots off Boston Light.

Arrived at the pots, Joe and Manuel put off in small boats to gather the catch. A thunder storm passed over them, lightning flashed about them, and when it had passed they saw the motorboat drifting, unguided.

Joe rowed over and found his brother's body, face down, in the water astern of the boat, the legs tangled in a dressing end of rope.

He believes his brother was struck by lightning and knocked overboard. He was dead when found.

CLEAN UP CITY IN WAR ON GERMS

Another clean-up week for Boston today when the Mayor returned from the Elk's Convention at Baltimore and had a conference with department heads with regard to measures against the spread of infectious diseases.

At the end of the conference the Mayor, the street and sanitary divisions to take use extraordinary efforts to clean up the city, paying particular attention to back yards and alleys. The work will continue twenty-four hours without a break. Twenty-five flushing gangs in addition to six automatic flushing machines will start to work today. To do this work 400 men of the paving division and water division were this morning transferred to the street cleaning division, and a large number of extra men were added to the garbage collection force.

In addition to these measures, the firemen will flush the streets, for a block in each direction, from every fire house in the city. If necessary these measures will continue longer than the week planned or until all danger from an epidemic is past.

Chairman Dillon of the Park and Recreation Department announced today that during the hot spell, sleeping will be allowed on the Common.

FILM STARS AT BIG CHICAGO CONVENTION

Chicago, July 13.—The fairies of film land flocked to Chicago today and put themselves on exhibition before a worshipping public. All the stars of the screen, both male and female, were either here or en route to attend the sixth annual convention of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League.

Twenty thousand persons, a great part of them young girls who have camera aspirations, jammed the Coliseum last night to see the stars. The crush became so great within an hour after the doors were opened that the fire department ordered that no more people be admitted.

Thousands vainly sought admission. Each day has been given over to a particular star. Today was Clara Kimball Young day.

BANISHED HIS DESIRE FOR TOBACCO

A Kansas Man Tells of a Simple Home Recipe That Broke Him of Using Tobacco.

At the John Miller, living at Waverly, Kan., after using tobacco 20 years, banished his desire for tobacco with a simple recipe which he mixed at home. In a recent statement Mr. Miller said: "I could not stop tobacco of my own accord, so used the following simple recipe almost two years ago and have not touched tobacco since. To 3 oz. of water add 20 grains of muriate of ammonia, a small box of Varlex Compound, and 10 grains of pepsin. Take a teaspoonful three times a day. As it has no color or smell it can be given secretly in tea, coffee, milk or in food. Any druggist can fill this recipe at very little cost, and it certainly will banish all desire for tobacco."

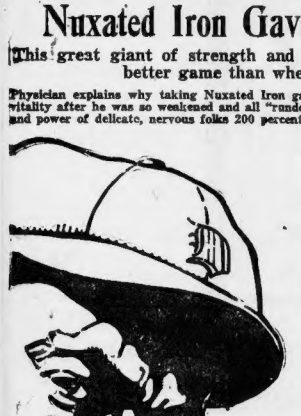
Batting Eyes of Ty Cobb, Super-man Greatest Baseball Player, Tells How Nuxated Iron Gave Him New Life

This great giant of strength and endurance says he now plays a better game than when he was younger.

Physician explains why taking Nuxated Iron gave Ty Cobb such tremendous strength and vitality after he was so weakened and all "rundown"—says it will often increase the strength and power of delicate, nervous folks 200 percent in two weeks' time.



I am astonished at the tremendous strength and endurance which I so quickly obtained from taking Nuxated Iron—I feel younger and stronger today than ever before in my life, and the proof is shown by the fact that I play a better game than when I was younger.

Tyrus R. Cobb

New York, N. Y.—When interviewed in his apartment at Bretton Hall, Ty Cobb said: "Hundreds of people write to me to know how I train and what I do to keep up that force and vitality which enables me to play practically every day of the entire baseball season. They wonder why I can play a better game to-day than when I was younger.

"The secret is keeping up the supply of iron in my blood—exactly what everyone else can do if they will.

"At the beginning of the present season I was nervous and run down from a bad attack of tonsilitis, but soon the papers began to state 'Ty Cobb has 'come back.' He is hitting up the old stride.' The secret was iron—Nuxated Iron filled me with renewed life.

"Now they say I'm worth $50,000 a year to any baseball team, yet without plenty of iron in my blood I wouldn't be worth five cents. Nuxated Iron supplies that 'stay there' strength and vim that makes men of mark and women of power. Continuing, Dr. Bauer said: 'Mr. Cobb's case is only one of hundreds which I could cite from my own personal experience which proves conclusively the astonishing power of nuxated iron to restore strength and vitality, even in most complicated chronic conditions."

Not long ago a man came to me who was nearly half a century old and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of 20 and as full of vigor, vim and vitality as a young man; in fact, a young man he really was, notwithstanding his age. The secret he said was taking iron—nuxated iron had filled him with renewed life. At 39 he was in bad health; at 46 he was careworn and nearly all in. Now at 50 a miracle of vitality and his face beaming with the buoyancy of youth. As I have said a hundred times over, iron is the greatest of all strength builders. If people would only throw away patent medicines and nauseous concoctions and take simple nuxated iron, I am convinced that the lives of thousands of persons might be saved, who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, consumption, kidney, liver and heart trouble, etc. The real and true cause which started their diseases was nothing more nor less than a weakened condition brought on by lack of iron in the blood. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to charge oxygen to your tissues. Without iron, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking. Just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test. See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself what a remarkable gain has been secured. Thousands of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while double their strength and endurance, and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from two to four weeks' time. Only remember, you must take iron in such a form that you can get it into the blood before it can do any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless.

Many an athlete or prize fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the affray, while many another has come to ignominious defeat simply for the lack of iron.

A good batter must be in prime physical condition—he needs a cool head, a quick eye and tremendous strength and endurance behind the bat.

Ty Cobb is undoubtedly the greatest baseball player in the history of the game. A short time ago he was weakened and all "run-down"—to-day he is a miracle of strength and endurance, due to filling his blood with plenty of iron. He says Nuxated Iron has given him new life and renewed energy and put the old-time vim and vigor of youth into his blood.

NOTE.—Nuxated Iron, recommended above by Dr. Bauer, is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists and whose iron constituents are widely prescribed by eminent physicians everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is said to positively not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion as well as in many of the more serious chronic diseases. The manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by Dr. A. Sperry, M. D.

Pirate Fans Rival Rip Braves After the Odd

Pittsburgh, July 13.—This city of smoke and millionaires has finally discovered that G. T. Stallings, variously known as The Chief and Miracle Man, had been angling for the services of Buck Herzog. Likewise did they hear that J. Keyser ne Evers was mentioned in connection with the proposed dicker.

Today the Braves and Pirates hitch up in another single game, and from the whispering within the Braves' camp the impression prevails that Doc Carlog Fat Ragan will do the shacking. Jerome Calahan will probably shoot Cooper into the breach. Stallings this morning is exceedingly jubilant as a result of his team's win yesterday.

REGARDING E. COLLINS.

Nobody is any more pleased, however, than Edgar Collins, the Braves outer gardener, who formerly patrolled in this city. Edgar has been panned considerably by the fans since his arrival here and had no chance for a comeback until after he scored in the memorable eighth yesterday. Right then he turned on the fans and it was a quiet log thereafter.

Danny Costello, whom the Braves consider about the freshest gink in baseball, figured conspicuously in that big inning yesterday and that worthy can give thanks his misplays happened in Pittsburgh rather than Boston. The old "Ah Ha" kid uncorked a couple of wild pegs which went a long way toward cementing the win for the Braves.

Loving seen Kantlener and finding nothing mysterious about his offering, though they did drop the game, and next trimming Mr. Mamaux the Braves feel that there is little to fear in the remaining portion of the Pirate staff. Yesterday Mamaux had a snug four lose lead entering the eighth and then came the fireworks. That one canto alone gave Boston the big end.

"Old Life" Helps Sox White Sox Close Stay

By HERMAN NICKERSON.

When a ball club keeps awake and alive to opportunities the luck seems to break its way. Facing seven games in four days with the club opposing but a half game away was some problem for the World's Champions.

Their pitchers hadn't loooked any too strong and they seemed to have forgotten how to hit. Whether it was the Sundays rest or the heat or a combination or both, they looked like the sleepiest ball club in the game and dropped the first two games without much of a struggle.

This was enough to have discouraged them. It, however, seems to have been the turning point in their style of play. They went out and grabbed two double-headers through their own defensive strength, which held the White Sox, and by keeping on their toes the breaks came their way.

This, in brief, describes the four straight victories of the Carrigan crew. They haven't hit much harder than their opponents, but the life has been in the team the past two days, which was not the case before. On top of this the pitchers began to look as if they were real pitchers after all, so what is to come in the games still unplayed in the season's schedule depends upon the ability of the men to hit.

A HITTING TEAM.

The Red Sox are naturally a hitting team, still they haven't struck their stride. When they do there will not be anything to it. On the other hand if they do not get hitting their pitchers will have to do the burden of the work, and so far this season there has been no indication that these fairies would improve. To the contrary the feeling has been that if these men could only get the stride they held in 1911 this would be enough. The season is now past the middle and the scrap for the flag tightens.

The club shouldn't figure its run of luck as being much to its credit. They should figure that games won are games won and go out to get a few on some good old-fashioned 1912 hitting. It will be remembered that in that remarkable year for the Red Sox they didn't know what a strain mental or physical was. Each man strode up to the plate with his bat filled with confidence that he was going to hit the ball. So far there has been nothing to show that the present champions have that feeling. It looks as if they had become discouraged.

Now in my opinion the Red Sox have about the best chance in the league, figuring that as so far the team hasn't hit and has kept up where it is an indifferent hitting and with the ordinary course of events they should get better hitting and better hitting from now on.

MUST BE ON TOES.

The baseball following of Boston is beginning to realize this more than possibility and the team members should get some of that feeling themselves. Some call it confidence, others "pep," but whatever it is called the Red Sox need to be kept on their toes every minute, taking no chances with the other fellow but just plugging along for that old ball game.

The team is very much stronger defensively than it was earlier in the season. The infield is about the best in the game the way the boys are playing now. Lewis shows symptoms of a return to hitting, while Hooper is covering rightfield and a greater part of centre as well. Walker is reported to have a bad ankle. This may explain his lack of speed and failure to cover the territory a centrefielder should. He didn't have a very brilliant day, but is among the best in the game at that, take him as an all-round man.

Del Gainer's condition today is perfect. He is good around first, can hit, is fast, and may be used in the outfield if occasion demands. Janvrin flashes now and then and Henriksen is the old reliable utility man.

Sam Agnew is back from his banishment and will help, while Wagner's wisdom and judgment and the confidence the men have in it and him should go a long way toward causing them to forget that they have no Tris Speaker, and that it will be all the more to their credit as players and a club to win without this great player, as they can and should if they fight the way they did in 1912 and in 1916.

WHITE SOX WILL FIGURE.

The Chicago White Sox are playing a slashing game of ball and will probably have much to say in the winning of the pennant. Not that they have a chance, for no club with the pitching staff as erratic as this club's can hope for any such honor. Still the club has improved to such an extent that they have to be figured in with Cleveland, Detroit and New York.

Having played six games in three days these teams must feel that they have a day off today with only one contest scheduled. The champions should come through with it with either Mays or Foster doing the mound work, while Danforth is likely to be the man chosen by the White Hosed Brigade.

The Chicago club has lost the series even though the champions lose. If Carrigan can keep his men going the way they have played the past two days and get a few his this series will be remembered for many a long day. In the field the champions look like champions. At bat they still have much to show to bring them back into the class of World Beaters.

C. WEBB MURPHY BUYS BALL YARDS

Cincinnati, O., July 13.—Charles W. Murphy, former president of the Chicago National Baseball Club, has become the sole owner of the former baseball park of the Cubs on the West Side in Chicago, when he concluded negotiations with Charles P. Taft for the purchase of a one-half interest in the real estate. The ball park was originally acquired from the John R. Walsh estate, Murphy buying a half interest and Mrs. Taft owning the other half.

Some time after the Chicago ball park property was purchased Murphy, with Mr. and Mrs. Taft, purchased the Philadelphia National ball park. Mr. Murphy in addition to completing the purchase of the Chicago property also acquired the remaining 50 per cent. interest of Mr. and Mrs. Taft in the Philadelphia National League park.

A. A. STAR LANDED BY COL. J. TINKER

Chicago, July 13.—The Chicago Cubs have purchased Outfielder Joe Kelly of the Indianapolis (American Association) club in exchange the Indianapolis club will receive a cash sum of between $12,000 and $13,000 and two players yet to be named. Kelly is a right-handed batter and hit .308 last year. He led the American Association in base stealing with sixty-one thefts and so far this season is hitting around .300.

JONES ISSUES PROTEST.

Philadelphia, July 13.—Manager Jones of the Brown Sox protested the game the Athletics won Tuesday because Walsh, who was put off the bench by Umpire Owens during the first game, was permitted to play in the second contest.

FINE TALENT FOR UXBRIDGE GAMES

A wonderful array of athletic talent has signified its intention of competing in the set of games to be conducted on the Uxbridge Fair grounds Saturday. Manager George V. Brown of the B. A. A. track team states that practically all the stars of his organization will compete for the benefit of St. Mary's Church of Uxbridge.

Tom Halpin, Dave Caldwell, Bill Meanix, J. Leo Foley, H. M. Burke, Roger Ball, A. D. Colby, Walter Whalen, A. S. Roberts, J. C. Lawler, W. E. Allen, Cody Murphy, Jimmy Hennigan, Arthur V. Roth, Tom Lilley, John Kennedy, G. T. Fleming and A. N. Grady are a few of those who will compete.

COAST LEAGUE CHANGES.

Oakland, Cal., July 12.—Bill Burns, the former big league southpaw, has joined the Oaks. Salt Lake has picked up Flint Bageman. Earl Wolgums and Outfielder Dick Bayless, as Shinn and Ryan are on the crippled list.

CRICKET NOTES.

FRANKLIN FIELD has been declared unplayable by the officials of the league, and all games scheduled with visiting teams will be played on the grounds of the visitors.

PLAYER WATTS (of the U. S. N. Blues) injury on Saturday, when he received a broken nose and probable concussion of the brain, proved the climax to games on Franklin Field. His case, however, was not the first of the season.

IT has not been learned as yet what will be done with the games when teams whose home grounds are Franklin Field are due to meet each other. It cannot be a forfeit or a draw, then what?

UNITED SHOE MACHINERY Whites finds, upon advice of the president, they cannot postpone their game with St. Georges scheduled for the 29th. It looks like an easy two points for the former, as the latter will not play. Maybe the U. S. M. team will visit Caledonian Grove that day and participate in the St. Georges picnic.

Linart-Walthour Land Big Race in Fast Time

Victor Linart of Belgium and Bobby Walthour of Atlanta, Ga., annexed the international forty-mile motor-paced team race from Leon Didier of France, and Georges Colombatto of Italy, at the Revere Cycle Track last night.

The team race made a big hit with the fans. The winners' time was 56m. 23 1-5s.

Williams won the three-quarter mile professional race after a hot struggle with Logan of South Boston, while the two-mile amateur race was landed by Brown of Cambridge.

SOX NOTES

WHEN Walker stole third in the sixth Cady was on first. He remained there listening to the band.

* * *

WEAVER kicked when Chill called him out on Barry's fast play in the eighth and was canned.

* * *

SAM AGNEW has returned from Siberia. A telegram was received before the second game raising his suspension.

* * *

LEWIS stung one for an unmistakable double in the fifth.

* * *

THE White Sox lineup for the second game was given a shakeup—for luck—presumably.

* * *

FOUR games in a row is marching toward the top at a fast pace.

* * *

THE final game of this strenuous series comes today. Make it five straight, you champions.

* * *

THOSE who have attended the Red Sox-White Sox games have seen about the best kind of work around second base. They don't get them any better than Barry and Collins.

* * *

WALKER made one of the poorest plays seen this season when he failed to come in on Fournier's rap, a fast falling drive to centre. The ball hit at his feet, bounding into his outstretched hands. Walker didn't move on the play which might have meant trouble.

* * *

THE visiting Knights of Columbus had the St. Vincent's drum, fife and bugle corps to furnish music and the boys certainly were active for so hot an afternoon.

E. Y. C. Fleet Disbands

Northeast Harbor, Me., July 13.—The Eastern Yacht Club fleet of Marblehead, after a most delightful afternoon and evening here among the mountains and waters of Frenchman's Bay, left on a racing run of twenty miles to Bar Harbor today.

The fleet will disband at 6 o'clock tonight. It has been, according to Commodore Herbert M. Sears, in spite of the fog, one of the best cruises the club has had for years.

Tomorrow a special race from Bar Harbor to Marblehead, a distance of 162 miles, will be in all probability one of the best races for the Norman cup the club has had.

The schooners Vagrant, Irolita, Alice and Ladrone and the sawl Pinback, owned by C. H. W. Foster of Marblehead, have entered. This will be an interesting race for the 32sl Pinback, much as she is her first cruise and she is built along the lines of an extreme type of fisherman, with a high knockabout bow.

BOXING BRIEFS AND GOSSIP

The brave James Johnston of New York city has re-sealed Larry Hollenbeck of Chicago as manager of Joe Welling, the Windy City welterweight. Joe and Jim Boston bow to it at Dunlap tonight's wrestling event at the Armory. Johnston, in a letter to the AMERICAN, has a lot to say about Welling, but he begins to talk on anything in reference to the boxing Joe recruited from Kid Hammer another part of his prospects in the last important battle in the West.

Among Johnston's first duties in the White, Leonard or Welsh will agree to meet Welling in a twenty-round contest in New Orleans. I will bet $1,000 Welling will turn out either one, or all three, one after the other, as soon as the necessary time to get ready for it; if they prefer a ten-round bout, the same $5,000 will go as a side bet. Welling can outpoint either one."

Judging by Johnston's modest missive he cannot see White or Leonard out to mention Welsh at all at all. He likes to be considered a set up for his charge. However if Welling makes good all the new things his manager says about him, poor Walter Monaghan is down to be exterminated. Yes, says Johnston's story coming true, the White Wells face will break up in a stirring exhibition in comparison to the Welling Butler fight. Johnston looks for the Revere boy to be right there with the lumbering plodding Welling at the end of their twelve-round scrap.

Johnny Donovan and Johnny Emery are ranked to clash in the semi-final to the Welling Butler bout.

Forfeits are up all around, claims Matchmaker George Freeman, so the weekly bout rules tomorrow night's card at the Commonwealth A. C. in some sort of a hooked. Jack Connolly, the Charlestown Beanat, meets Frankie Flynn, the lanky member from Providence in the twelve-rounder, while Jim Mc-Intyre, the stirring Dorchester lad, and Johnny Dixon, both with Jim Moore's the former Taylor, local amateur, now holding forth at Jamaica Plain, in the eight-round semi-final.

No pair of big fellows ever put up a busier battle in a Boston ring than was staged by McDonald and Moore at the West End club a few weeks ago. There was little extent of a near-murder with Moore winning with a keen when he looked just about done for. Moore's condition was none too good that night, so all credit for improvement he shouldn't get tired this time, as he did on his other start, though pulling it out of the fire at a time when the betting was 10 to 1 against him.

Willie Baker is handling N. O. Cohen, the West End featherweight, whom he claims is the best sitter of the bunch in that class, and wants to book him. Tony Vallee, Maurice Levy and Jack Gordon are the gentlemen Baker especially desires to hear from.

Joe Eagan has signed to meet "Roddy" McDonald at Halifax next Monday night.

NEW YORK RING TALK

NEW YORK, July 13.—Knockout Sullivan, the Pennsylvania light heavyweight, will make his local debut against Battling Gann, a colored boxer, at the Clermont Rink, Brooklyn, tonight. There will also be a second ten between Young Terry and Joe Russell.

NEXT Monday night Willie Astor will meet Benny Valgar, a newcomer among the haniamweights, at the Olympic Club.

LAST NIGHT IN THE RING.

New York, July 13.—Sar Rivers of California knocked out Young Reilly of the West Side in the first round at the Pioneer A. C. A left hook supplemented by a right swing to the chin, ended the bout. Rivers weighed 158 pounds, while Reilly scaled ten pounds more. In the other feature bout, Young Marino knocked out Willie Gilligan in the fifth round.

Providence, July 13.—The Ramp Reagan, Jim Barry bout at the Marseille A. C. had a queer ending in the eighth round. After a bit of excitement and a big row Reagan was awarded the winner by Referee Gardner.

Baltimore, July 13. Alf Mansfield the Fog Horn heavyweight, retires in the fifth round of his bout with Kid Williams, the former champion. Mansfield got tired taking a beating and hopped through the ropes in the middle of the round.

Jack Dillon and Levinisky on Today

Baltimore, Md., July 13.—With both men in the finest possible condition, Baltimore fight fans and hundreds of visitors to the Elks convention anxiously awaited the gong that will start the fifteen-round fight between Jack Dillon of Indianapolis and Battling Levinsky of New York here this afternoon. The fight will be held in the open at Oriole Park and is scheduled to begin at 5 p. m. The park seats over 20,000 people and it is expected that every available seat will be taken. Long before the box office opened at 8 o'clock this morning hundreds were in line to get their seats.

LANIGAN BEST IN HARVARD TOURNEY

With the thermometer around the 93 mark, fifty-six golfers of the Harvard Club of Boston trudged over the 6,500 odd yards of the Brae-Burn Country Club links yesterday to compete in the second tournament of the organization this season.

There was a great deal of guessing as to who would win the gross honors. Percy Gilbert, the ex-State amateur champion being selected as the probable winner. But Gilbert was beaten by one stroke by Charles L. Lanigan, captain of the Harvard varsity baseball team in 1915.

Lanigan did not play very good golf on his first nine, his score of 45 showing some bad holes. On the last nine Lanigan took 40 strokes good golf for the inward journey at the West Newton Club. Gilbert was 43 for the first nine and the same figures for his last nine.

H. B. Ingalls captured the first trophy with a score of 78 and E. Foster and W. H. Lancaster tied for second net with 73.

Yale Crew Coach Answers Critics

New Haven, July 13.—Guy Nickalls, Yale's English rowing coach, has listened to the criticisms levied at Yale's rowing methods, particularly the use of those pins, and he counters against his critics with a most effective statement. Writing in the last Yale Alumni Weekly, Nickalls tells those who blame the use of thole pins for Yale's naval disasters this year that "fixed thole pins hold all the records in England, in Belgium, in Sweden and for at least four courses in America.

When the water is fit for shells to race upon, the thole pin must and always will hold the advantage," he says. "When the water is utterly unfit for proper rowing and tearing, then proper rowing gear and rating are materially out of the question and out of place.

Wright a Factor in Mass. Golf Championship

Freddie Wright of the Scarboro Golf Club, who holds the title of State Junior champion, looms up as a golfer to be followed in the Massachusetts open amateur championship at the Wollaston Golf Club next week.

Yesterday young Wright in playing with L. J. Malone against C. A. Hartwell and Nathaniel W. Dean in a four-ball best play match at 36 holes at Oakley, scored a 75 for his morning round and 81 for his afternoon's jaunt. Hartwell had two 79s Dean 80 and 79, Malone 79 and 80, for their rounds.

Wright in scoring his 75 got 41 for his first nine and 34 for his inward nine. The figure for the last half is one below the par figure for the course. Wright holed a 176-yard mashie shot at the eighth hole after he had missed his first two shots.

While there are a number of golfers predicting that Jesse Guilford would walk away with the Massachusetts title this year it would be well to consider Wright at all times in this contest. The fearless golfer has greatly improved on his game during the last couple of years and according to well known golding critics has the makings of a champion.

Lehigh Football Being Taught at Harvard

The Haughton system of football, ranked as the finest in the land, and born and bred within the classic shades of Harvard, is not the chosen form of football culture now being taught in the Harvard Summer School.

No set system of playing the game is recommended. No graduate of the Haughton system is in charge either, the class in football being directed by Howard R. Reiter, physical director at Lehigh University. Mr. Reiter himself is a great admirer of the Haughton system, but believes that there are other styles of play that are showing equally as good results.

Two other members of the Summer school faculty are Professor "Cyclone" Burns, the snappy light heavyweight wrestler, who is teaching the grappling the art of the old Grecian sport, and Eddie Shevlin, the Roxbury boxer, who has just laid aside his togs as teacher of boxing at Cornell to come to Cambridge.

A Girl and a Man

Agnes Meets William Hale, Philip's Father, and Starts Taking Letters

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

CHAPTER V.

Copyright, 1914, by W. G. Chapman

Agnes Morley had been right when she told her aunt that the circumstances of Mr. Hale and herself attending the same church did not imply that they knew each other.

William Hale was a member of the West Congregational Church, as his father had been before him. He felt that in paying pew rent, going to an occasional service, and giving something to various charities, he was discharging all his duties toward the denomination to which he belonged.

His son and daughter had when children, attended Sunday School, and had once or twice since then been present at some function in the church parlors—such as the sociable at which Philip had been introduced to Agnes Morley. She had also met Kate Hale, Philip's sister, younger than he—but beyond the exchange of bows at the time of the introduction the two girls had had no intercourse of any kind.

Agnes reflected that if Kate Hale was cognizant of the fact that her brother called on the piece of Miss Lucy Morley, ex-milliner, she preferred to ignore it.

The truth of the matter was that Kate did not know of her brother's acquaintance with Agnes. She considered the poorer girl a pretty little creature so much older than herself as to be entirely out of the range of possibility as an associate, even had her social position made such association worth while.

Therefore when William Hale, senior member of the firm of Hale and Bainbridge, read the note of introduction by his prospective employe from the manager of the business school to which he had applied for "a capable young woman," the name "Miss Agnes Morley" awakened no particular train of thought in his mind. He finished giving some orders to a clerk, then commanded the office boy to "bring the lady in."

A FAMILIAR FACE.

The face of the man at the large desk by the window was not unfamiliar to the new secretary. She had seen him in church at various times, gazing down upon him from the gallery—whence pew rents were so low as to make it practicable for her aunt and herself to have two "sittings!"

She had watched the tall figure stride up the aisle to the highpriced pew next to the front of the edifice. During the past year, since she had become fond of Phil, she had looked with interest at the father on the few Sundays on which he made his appearance at the sanctuary.

Phil, she noticed, came to services more regularly than of old — perhaps in the hope of seeing her. But she had forbidden him walking home with her, for she shrank from having the church people fancy she was receiving attentions from a man whose family was in every way superior to her own.

Not that she felt she was doing anything wrong in receiving Phil in her home or in accepting favors from him. But she did not want to furnish food for gossip among those who might regard her critically were they to know of Philip Hale's liking for her.

He was too young for his name to be linked with hers in a serious way for some time to come. Nobody should say that she was encouraging him when he was not in a position to become engaged to any girl.

All of these thoughts had passed through her mind during the instant in which she waited for Mr. Hale to mass a memorandum of some sort he wished to remember before turning toward her, and she wondered again, as she had done many times within the past twenty-four hours, just how much Mr. Hale knew of Phil's liking for her, and if such knowledge would make any change in his treatment of her.

As soon as he greeted her, however, she was aware that if his son had told him anything of her, it was very little. She felt a sensation of relief, and yet in the back of her brain was the consciousness that one reason Philip had not talked of her to his father might be because he feared that William Hale would not approve of any intimacy between his son and such a poor and obscure girl as herself.

Then she blamed herself swiftly that she was doing Phil an injustice. He had appreciated her desire to avoid gossip, and he cared too much for her to listen to any criticisms his father might pass upon her. Yes, the boy was right in waiting until he was in a position of independence before discussing the girl whom he admired.

WORK AT ONCE

"You are Miss Morley?" William Hale was saying. "You probably know what your duties here will be. I fancy," with a smile and a glance at the letter Agnes had given him, which lay open now on his desk, "that you will be equal to my requirements —at what Mr. Timmins, the manager of the school, says of you is true, as it doubtless is."

"Thank you, I will do my best," girl said.

As the man regarded her steadily, as if reading her character from her appearance, she knew much his eyes, deep-set and gray, were like his son's. But she must not let herself think of that.

"May I begin work at once?" she asked in a business-like manner.

"Yes," he replied.

Then he drew his brows together in a little frown expressive of perplexity, as if searching for some elusive recollection.

"I have a rather unusual memory for faces," he remarked, "and I have an idea that I have seen you somewhere, haven't I?"

"Possibly," she answered, flushing. "My aunt and I attend the same church as you."

"Ah!" he said indifferently. "That accounts for the impression I had that your face was not unfamiliar. I have probably seen you in passing in or out of church.

"Now, if you please, we will be—ah—at work as soon as you have laid off your hat and coat. You may put them outside the door. I am receiving letters from the red-headed man—he'll show you. Come back and I will have several letters I would like you to take."

Good Housekeeping Recipes

Good food properly cooked goes far toward insuring health and long years. As much depends on the cooking, however, as on the food itself. The following recipes have been tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute, conducted by GOOD HOUSEKEEPING, and are republished here by special arrangement with that publication, the Nation's Greatest Home Magazine.

All measurements are level, standard half-pint measuring cups, tablespoons and teaspoons being used. Sixteen level tablespoonfuls equal a half-pint. Quantities are sufficient for six people unless otherwise stated. Flour is sifted once before measuring.

Caramels

2 pounds light-brown sugar, exact weight
¼ cupful butter
1 pint new milk
1 cupful nut kernels, preferably black walnuts.

Bring ingredients to boiling point then stir constantly till the mixture is so thick that a ball of caramel, tested as will be described, a little is dropped in ice-cold water. Add nuts while still over the heat, remove the spoon before boiling ceases. Pour into a buttered pan to the depth of half an inch. When cool turn the sheet of caramel upon a board or marble slab, cut in squares and wrap in paraffin paper. Care should be exercised in regulating the caramels. Be sure to remove the spoon before mixture ceases to boil, and do not drain the bottle or the can of all sugar; instead, pour a little hot water quickly and scrape what remains into another pan. Add to the very thin caramel a cupful of grated chocolate, or omit the nuts and flavor with a teaspoonful of vanilla. The same directions must be followed to the letter.

Eggplant with Salmon

One and one-half cupfuls mashed, cooked eggplant, 1 pound can salmon, ½ cupful dried bread crumbs mixed with ¼ cupful melted butter, ½ cupfuls medium-thick white sauce.

Remove the skin from an egg plant we're using a pound and a half. Cut in slices, steam it until tender, a little salt being added. Then mash it with a fork, combine with the salmon from which the skin and bones have been removed, and the white sauce. Mix thoroughly, transfer to a buttered baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs, and bake half an hour in a moderate oven.

Eczema on Scalp —Awful Irritation

Resinol Soon Healed It Entirely

Mar. 28: "I had a severe case of eczema on my head. My scalp itched and burned and was full of scabs, and when I scratched that would of course pull off the scabs and my head very sore. The irritation was something awful. I could not keep my hands off of it and my hair became very dry and harsh and did not feel like there was any life in it. The first application of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap gave good relief, so after using one jar of Resinol ointment and three cakes of Resinol Soap my head was entirely healed, can rest peacefully and there is no more itching. My temple were also in most every bad way, but now it is covered thickly. I might say I soon as simply wonderful for any such kind of skin trouble. It does all you say and more. "Dick and Dan"

They Catch the Vacation-Fever

By NELL BRINKLEY

Copyright, 1914, by International News Service.

DICK was a poor young man. That is, of course, he had a million ties in a great flowering cluster, and, like the much sniffed-at girl, never had any to wear on himself; he had a beautiful black bag that he took roving; his mother gave him neat mannish brushes with silver beaten into the backs and his initials quietly tucked in the port corner; he had a velvet house gown lined with silk that he'd been given by his sister, who was older than he, and loved him fiercely and valiantly through all their comradeship together and clear across the strange lands that lay between them from college-time until he took his dive into the big world-sea and lived on what he could earn himself; he had his golf truck and his fishing outfit, the mandolin left over from roaring, routing glee club days, one "dresstux" suit and the old hat he fished in.

Well, and a few pictures of girls who had been the pretty flowers along his theory, banana pathway that had seemed always to run in sunny ways. This sounds most wealthy. Just the same he was a poor young man. For he was a civil and mining engineer and hung over blueprints from a high stool and tried to see the country that lay before him in little blue and black lines like a city-darkened spider's web. He managed to see some of the glimmer and dew of the reality that it was a dull map of. And he only had two weeks' vacation. So he was a poor young man.

Came a day when he came down with the vacation fever, and his mind went off swimming and picking wild tiger lilies under the pines and was very flicdempered when he snatched it back again. So he and Dan, who lived quietly with him in his room that looked over a green park, but was NOT "large and airy," went to battle with this room, and when they came out of the first assault they had torn all things that went to make up a vacation from their moorings and had segregated them into a heap in the centre of the room. And then they sat them down, all wet and weary and grinning happy, and read faithfully in the beautiful folders of Railroad Lines, and boat trails, and Summer Hotels, and country farms. And their hearts fluttered, and they whispered and nudged, and read aloud, and cried, "listen to THIS," and pondered and pictured and critticised. And their joy and their trouble was on them—as you will see!—NELL BRINKLEY.

When the Animals Speak

The Learned Cow Tells Her Calf the Secrets of Bovine Ancestry

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

Said the learned cow to her white calf "I do not wish you to frolic with those brindles and reds any more."

"But, mamma," protested the white calf, frisking its tail impatiently, "they are very funny."

"I they are also very vulgar and low-bred," returned the learned cow. "They do not classify with us."

"But I have heard the man in the milking yard say that these mammas are the best milk-givers in the world," replied the calf flicking off buzzing her mother.

"Milk-givers, indeed!" exclaimed the cow, disdainfully tossing her head. "Were we born into this world only to fill pails? Listen, my child, and I will tell you what I did not guess that I was the master was talking with a friend in front of the stalls.

"I did not guess that I was while I placidly chewed my cud and I almost laughed when the master patted me on the forehead and said: 'If this cow knew her family tree she would be a prize animal.' Her ancestry runs back of ours, and I believe that she is a direct descendant of the great Box Primicenius, the only one of the ox family blood that survived all the vicissitudes of the ice age of the ice."

I felt a lump in my throat at that, and turned my eyes upon the master in a way which made him stop for a moment and then say, smiling, to his friend: "Why, look at that cow, she seems actually to know what I was saying. Have we got back to the days of primitive man?"

Then they both laughed, and the master continued to scratch and patting my head."

But who was Box Primigenius?" interrupted the white calf, which is a getting interested.

"A very great and proud animal, my dear, which roamed the earth when nothing and was slave to nobody. He was the great ancestor of Ursa, the long-horned, and the mighty, whom the warlike Julius Caesar met and admired in the forests of Gaul and Germany We have his blood in our veins, and these others have it not. They are degenerate descendants of a race inferior to ours, who have allowed their blood to be abased and themselves to be trained as great milk-givers, forsooth! Look at their short, stubby horns, the senseless figure, and their stupid, unsightly faces!"

THE GREAT ANCESTOR

"But mamma, who was their great ancestor, then?"

"Box Brachycerus," replied the cow, with a contemptuous shrug. "He had little straight horns and was, no doubt, a great coward."

"But was he as old as our ancestor?"

"Yes, I suppose he was The master said that both the races originated before the age of ice, and lived all through it, but our must have been the best, for it has survived until now while the other has become extinct, leaving only monsters to represent it, or these wonderful milk-giving slaves.

"But how did our ancestor manage to make his blood run pure so long while the other could not?"

"Native superiority, my child. We are Chillinghams, and the Chillinghams can trace their lineage straight back to the great Box Hom, with the long horns. The Holsteins and the Jerseys, the master said, are also nearly pure, and close relatives of ours, so you can play with their children

OF KINDRED DESCENT

"Yes, mamma, but the other day there was in the field a big, ugly, one-looking steer, with long horns, who, they said, came from Texas, and who was one of a giant survivors of his family. I was so excited that I could run, and how noble he is! I should meet him again I avoid him?"

"No, you may greet him with respect. He, too, has the blood of Box Primigenitus, though not so pure as ours. His family came to America from Spain, where there is another branch of our race. His fathers ran free on the vast plains resuming the life of our great ancestor, in a new world, until a time making man invaded his home. He treated him as he has treated so many all of our kind, pretending that it is better to serve and be well cared for than to be free and live your own life."

"But mamma, how old are we, anyway, and where did the ox family begin?"

"Some time you will know what I mean when I say that we began in the Lower Pliocene, an ancient period of geology, which existed perhaps millions of years ago and that we lived then in the country now called India. We passed into Europe in the Upper Pliocene age, and—"

But the white calf has ceased to pay any attention. Two or three playful forms went gambolling and kicking by, and it instinctively started to chase them.

"Come back here!" mooed the learned cow, stamping her foot. "Have you forgotten Box Primigenius already? For shame!"

Anecdotes of the Famous

An amusing episode that occurred during a visit to Australia is related by Miss Marguerite Ada, the well-known actress. She has been playing Viola, Katherine and other Shakespearian heroines in the great theatre at Melbourne, but the time came to move on to a smaller city, and her manager was worried by doubts. He proposed confining the repertory to modern plays she recommended, he said:

"They won't go right."

"Then why not The Taming of the Shrew?" Mrs. Ada Ingalls suggested.

The manager hesitated, but finally he replied:

"Oh, well, we'll try it. I we mustn't let them know who wrote it."

"I had forgotten this in remark," says Miss Anglin, "until I arrived in the city to find it there, to my horror, everywhere advertisements were announcing hotly that Miss Anglin would appear in a revival of 'The Taming of the Shrew,' by B. Hardy!"

On one occasion Lord Rosebery was discussing insomnia with a well-known divine, who suffered in the same way.

"Must I have discovered a cure for my sleeplessness," remarked the peer, "I just get a book of sermons, begin to read one and I'm off in a few minutes."

"That may be all right for you" said Lord Rosebery, "but, personally, I would rather lie awake than try your cure."

* * *

The great Russian writer, Maxim Gorky, whose autobiography is shortly to be published, is not generally credited with any marked sense of humor, but he tells an amusing little story now and then.

Gorky does not like Americans, and it is easy to trace a grim in the matter of their reverence for royalty in the following anecdote, which Gorky declares is true:

When the Grand Duke Alexis visited America with his imposing suite they all went for a buffalo hunt.

The Colonel in whose charge the party was placed was advised to get quiet horses. He did his best, and the procession started. All went well for a time, and the Colonel was feeling pleased, when an orderly rode up to him and in an agitated undertone said:

"Beg pardon, Colonel, but"—jerking his tumb over his shoulder—"one of them kings has fell off his horse. And he's cursing something terrible about it."

Advice to the Lovelorn

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCEMENTS

DEAR Miss FAIRFAX.

We two have recently married for almost two years and are now desirous of announcing our marriage. Can you advise just how to do that? Is there any form of announcement which could be sent to friends, together with "at home" cards?

IN DOUBT

THE bride's mother or nearest female relative is the one to announce the marriage. Any stationer will give you the proper form of engraved announcement, and if the marriage has occurred just now the "at home" cards may be included.

FORGIVE AND FORGET

DEAR Miss FAIRFAX

I am engaged to marry a very elegant, hard-working young man. Recently, thinking I might hear of me from some other source, my fiancé told me of a very disagreeable affair he had with a girl in a department store, four or five years ago. I am sorry he told me, because on thinking of it I feel constrained to complain for him. Now, do you think I should let this interfere with my happiness or should I try to forget the incident?

RUTH G.

INTOLERANCE causes a large amount of the unhappiness in the world. Since your fiance has been honest with you and the affair is a matter of years ago, it is not possible to forgive and forget? I do not approve of the laxity of this world's standards in regard to masculine morals, but one has to accept the conditions of life as they are. After all, none of us has a right to judge anyone else. If his conduct did not spoil another girl's life I think you ought to meet his frankness with complete forgiveness.

It is not necessary to use a painful process to remove hairy growths, for with a little delatone handy you can keep the skin entirely free from these heady destroyers. To remove hair, make a stiff paste with a little powdered delatone and water. Spread this on the hairy surface and in about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. To guard against disappointment, be careful to get real delatone.—Advertisement.

The Biography of a Sinner

Vera Is Ill, but the Devotion of Her Brother Rex Makes Her Week Happy.

By ANN LISLE

At last I succeeded him to promise to stay and try not to drink Father was so remorseful about my very evident suffering that I got a promise from him, too. He was to give Rex another chance, but he told me rather coldly that if ever again Rex was intoxicated he would give the boy a hundred dollars and bundle him out, disowned and outcast forever. He did not occur to father that Rex might go of his own accord—and never come back. Father judged by precedent, and Rex had returned meekly enough from his first fight.

I had a long, delicious week of lying in bed and being waited on. Father brought me a two-pound box of candy and gave me a hundred dollars to do with as I liked. Mother beautified herself and was very nice to me. She made me a pity roll one day and some cup custard another.

A LOT OF ATTENTION

Corinne and Myra each spent a precious afternoon of their vacation sitting with me, and Len brought me roses twice. But it was Rex whose devotion made that week in bed gloriously happy. Rex had come back to me more loving and devoted than ever. I did not realize that I no longer knew anything of Rex's own affairs—his inner life and feelings.

I did a lot of thinking as I lay in bed. The result of my cogitations was this. That you could always manage men if you just found the right way to do it and that drink seemed to make people forget unhappiness.

I made up my mind that as soon as I could get about I'd go to the sideboard where it was and I was going to take a glass of the sherry father kept there.

Two weeks after the accident, cured, as we had explained to Roxanna, by my falling downstairs in my haste to let Rex in on his way home from a party in the city, I was up and about again with my arm held up by an interesting looking sling.

By the end of January I was ventured to walk down to the market with my ordering. In spite of the danger of falling on the slippery streets and adding another fracture to the one of which my arm already boasted.

I was coming home, carrying in my uninjured right arm the basket in which I had ordered my supper and which the butcher had promised to deliver. As I reached the top of the street leading up to our house Norton Gregory came driving down the road that led from Gregory's farm, in here their wedding old country mansion stood.

Norton Gregory was rated as Myra Barnes' property, and he had only noticed me once before—at Myra's "Scarlet Ribbon hop". Perhaps he was lonely, since he was one of the few boys who had not gone away to college, and perhaps he wished to see me struggling along the slippery road with a package of outcast right in my uninjured arm. At all events he stopped his cutter of course, dale them properly. At the cards may be included.

BRIDE WITH NORTON

"Will you, Norton?" It is an awful pill. This is the first time I've ever been in your cutter. How comfortable it is! Miss Norton killed in appreciation of superiority. "The first time, Vera? Well it won't be the last."

"Oh, you're busy down at the bank—you'll forget. Busy men always do."

Some latent instinct told me that Norton would not be satisfied by a mere "Thank you" for the favor. He leaned at me with a smile which seemed to say that I was a fool if I did not know what he was after—but not to have coined me before.

"The bank comes at nine Saturdays, Vera, and there isn't a thing I've planned for tomorrow afternoon. What do you say to a spin over to Silver Lake?"

For a moment I thought of Myra remembered how Corinne had invited me on that afternoon she and her mum spent with me when she recovered from Professor Hinds' was to her up at college.

And I recalled how Myra's sly little smile as she had purred out, "Oh, don't tell Vera how wonderful the motor-cycle is, my Corinne, darling."

She rather liked him herself once—didn't you, Vera?"

A sudden, cold determination welled up in my heart. The world hadn't treated me very well—and I owed nothing to Myra Barnes or to society! Suppose Norton did get interested in me—father wouldn't object to that. Norton had a good position in the bank and he belonged to one of the oldest families in the state. I needn't marry him if I didn't want to, but father would respect me a little more if he say that I could attract a fellow like Norton Gregory.

NO HARM INTENDED

At the time I didn't mean any harm, I had never thought nor felt deeply enough. De Witt Hazen's kisses had never stirred any of the turbulent emotions hidden beneath the placid exterior of my nature.

It was a shilly that my life was empty and I wanted to fill it with something. If that something happened to be a devotion which belonged to another girl, that did not enter into the account. I was selfish, if you like, but the selfishness was thoughtless, unconscious.

One of my success in winning Norton Gregory away from Myra Barnes—for that is what happened —there was born a certain calculating coquetry. Later, because of it, I came to take a keen delight in showing other girls out of their entrenched positions in men's hearts and coming in to fill the emptiness I had deliberately created.

I had learned the intricacies of falsehood for the time I was sixteen, and before I was nineteen I was a finished coquette. No one seemed aware of any of these ignoble qualities. No one criticised me because of my weaknesses or tried to help me overcome them.

But later, when my self-deliberating nature tried to theft and appropriated another woman's husband, all the world condemned me for what it might have known was bound to happen

Turn About Fair Play

After many efforts the aspiring singer had managed to get permission to give a trial performance at the local music hall. The house was full, and she was ushered in by several tones. Everything seemed rosette until a hoarse voice came from the wings of the stage.

"Here, you come off!" ordered the stage manager. "I've got you as you're emptying the house!"

"Er—I don't seem to be a success, then?" she asked, somewhat crestfallen.

"Success! Huh!" snorted the manager, angrily. "Why, didn't the last youth's the most successful chap I ever met. Now, for goodness sake, go and sing outside and draw out the audience!"

THRONGS HERE FOR LEATHER MEN'S FAIR

Boston's biggest and best Shoe and Leather Market-Fair is open, and before its full week is out fully 75,000 persons will have visited the attractive exhibits in the Mechanics Building.

Ten thousand were expected to visit the big fair today.

The fair brings the hub of the shoe and leather world into the heart of Boston, thousands of persons, including the men big and little of the trade, being now visitors within the city's gates on the occasion the Eighth National Market-Fair.

The Boston and New England shoe and leather men plan to spend $10,000 on the matter of entertaining these guests alone.

Experts in the trade say the fair has brought here a large number of representatives of the shoe and leather trades than has ever before gathered in one place at a given time.

These men come from practically ever State in the Union, from all parts of Canada, from Central and South America, from Cuba, Porto Rico and various parts of Europe and Asia.

Among the buying committees reported in attendance two come from Russia and the Dutch colonies.

"BILLION DOLLAR BUSINESS."

Thus is the fair given an international significance.

In a word, it may be said that the fair represents the "billion dollar shoe and leather business" of the nation.

No previous fair has been so big or have prospects of tremendous success been so apparent at the start of any other enterprise in the trades. There are upwards of 200 exhibitors, showing everything conceivable in shoe and leather lines, and many features which will attract the general public as well.

Thus it is that New England, the home of the shoe and leather industries, is fostering a fair fit to represent the immensity of these vast interests.

The layout of exhibits is uniformly attractive. The dominant tones are blue and yellow, and individual booths, many of them, are most artistically gotten up.

The impression of the whole is one of uniform attractiveness.

The whir of machinery gives it a realistic touch at the very moment the decorator passes into the spacious exhibition hall. Then as the visitor passes up and down the numerous aisles are seen shoe and leather features galore, with courteous shoe and leather men here, there and everywhere, to explain things to the uninitiated.

TRIPLE NATURE.

But bigger in the trades than the popular appeal is the triple nature of the attraction for the men of the trade:

1—Their desire to stock up their retail stores and wholesale warehouses for Fall and Winter demand.

2—Their desire to study the exhibits as exhibits.

3—The fact that the New England manufacturers and wholesalers in all branches of the allied industries of shoe and leather have united in helping make the National Shoe and Leather Week in Boston the greatest thing ever, during which excursions, receptions and other courtesies will be extended to all visiting buyers.

This hospitality end opens today with the harbor excursion and dinner at Nantasket Beach and outing of the National Shoe Travelers' Association. There will be other big features to follow. Other features on the program for the big week follow:

Friday, July 14.—Welcome of home and foreign visitors at the Shoe and Leather Fair, Mechanics Building.

Saturday, July 15.—Shoe factory superintendents and foremen's day at the Shoe and Leather Fair, Mechanics Building.

Monday, July 17.—Canadian Day at the Shoe and Leather Fair, and welcome of Canadian delegation, Mechanics Building.

Tuesday, July 18.—National Leather and Shoe Finders' Association Day at the Shoe and eLather Fair, Mechanics Building.

Wednesday, July 19.—New England Trade Organization Day and closing of the Eighth National Shoe and Leather Fair, Mechanics Building.

SPIRIT OF HOSPITALITY.

This spirit of hospitality is the keynote of the energetic endeavors of the various New England organizations of the trade, headed by the New England Shoe and Leather Association and the Boston Shoe Travelers' Association, which have formed a general committee of arrangements, headed by President Henry I. Thayer of the New England Shoe and Leather Association and Secretary Thomas E. Anderson of the same organization is secretary.

For the big excursion today the members of the Boston Shoe Travelers' Association and their guests assemble at the Hotel Essex, marching thence to Rowe's wharf to take a special steamer for Nantasket.

Another big feature will be the motor trip to Beverly next Tuesday to inspect the great plant of the United Shoe Machinery Company. The company will provide an outdor luncheon on its grounds at Beverly.

STOCKS AND INVESTMENTS

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks were weak in New York at first, and also the mood of professionals, motor car issues being especially so. Prices advanced or held firm during the first hour, but when covering ceased stocks came out in considerable quantity. The shift illustrated the uncertainty of speculation. Sugar 1¼, American Can ¾, Baldwin ⅝, Crucible ⅝, Continental Can 5, Goodrich 2½, Lee Tire & Westinghouse ¾, Industrial Alcohol 2¾, Mexican Petroleum ¼, Maxwell ¼, Studebaker 5¼, Chandler 6¾, Willys-Overland 6, and Baltimore & Ohio ¼.

Among gains were Reading ⅝, Chesapeake & Ohio ¾, Steel ⅝, Anaconda ¼, Kennecott ⅝, United Fruit 1, American Zinc ⅝, Butte & Superior ⅝, and Coal Products ⅛.

In Boston prices were irregular, the local market being affected by New York, but the professionals who dealt here than losses. Advances included Allouez 2, Calumet & Arizona ¼, Copper Range ⅝, Mohawk ½, American Zinc 1, United Fruit ⅛ and U. S. Smelting ¼. At one time United Fruit was up 2⅝.

Among declines were North Butte 5, Osceola 1¾, Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies common ¾.

Boston Curb trading was rather quiet, but Fortuna was active during the morning. Among strongest issues were Home and Jerome, among the weakest were Fortuna, First National, Humboldt, Smelters and Mexican Metals. The market is now on the whole. Chief Consolidated's quarterly dividend of 50 cents per share, just declared, is payable August 2 to holders of record July 16.

Conversion of bonds into stock seemed when the New York market opened it being developed that little had actually had become scarce. Prices were firm at the start and soon took an upturn. Most gains were fractional, but within a few minutes American Zinc, Chile Copper, Inspiration, Industrial Alcohol had advanced a point or more. Industrial Alcohol made the greatest gain, but Cleveland was weak. Zinc was the strongest mining shares. Sentiment was more bullish. The drive in England has raised its minimum disconnage to 50 per cent, and 40 to 45 per cent. since the war began. This indicates money is becoming scarce everywhere. Word that the first shipments from ottawa to New York on the Canadian exchange have totalled about $160,000,000.

The Boston market began dull and firm with the Guggenheim issue the active issue. It was weak.

Superintendent Walton of Porcupine Premier has wired G. W. Field & Co. he believes the ore body in the southwest drift will be more than fifteen feet wide. More than nine feet of ore has been passed through already.

TO LONDON BY AIR!

Many people believe that when the war is over trans-Atlantic navigation will be aerial and undersea as well as by ships sailing the ocean. The voyage of the German submarine Deutschland may be the beginning of great changes. But it is conceded that aircraft will be the fastest. Even now it is proposed to carry passengers from New York to London by aeroplane. The Curtiss plane. The American Aircraft Company has been incorporated for the feat. It is capitalized for $5,000,000 in Delaware, with shares at $5 par, and proposed to begin trial aeroplane service by October, if it can. It is stated arrangements have been perfected in the New York financial district by a syndicate for the underwriting and issuance of stock to the amount of $200,000.

Investment—Extraordinary

If you are investing your last hard earned dollar, it is your duty to be extremely careful.

But, if you are in a position to take advantage of an opportunity that comes but seldom these days, it is your duty to look into

EMERSON MOTORS

Here is a new company backed by a group of practical and successful automobile manufacturers, recently organized to bring out the best low priced car on the market—$395 for a five-passenger touring car. We do not have to point out the tremendous selling possibilities of such a car.

First Emerson car on streets of New York, July 12th, aroused great excitement and instant admiration of its wonderful merits.

This is no dream plan of dreamers. Following are the officers of the company, the president and vice-president of which report splendid progress in this great venture:

Willis George Emerson, Chairman Board of Directors; T. A. Campbell, President (formerly Treasurer and General Manager of Hupp Motor Car Co. and Vice-President Imperial Automobile Co.); R. C. Hupp, Vice-President and Engineer (formerly Vice-President and General Manager Hupp Motor Car Co.); George N. Campbell, Secretary and Treasurer (formerly Secretary and Factory Manager Imperial Automobile Co.); M. S. Shanks, Assistant Secretary (formerly Secretary of the Monarch Motor Car Co. of Detroit, Mich.); George W. Gifford, Director (General Manager Standard Oil Company's Bayonne Plant, 26 Broadway, New York); Jesse R. Leonard, Director (Director Columbia National Bank, Pittsburg, Pa.

The Emerson Motor Company is incorporated in Delaware; capital $10,000,000; 700,000 shares of common stock, 300,000 shares of preferred, redeemable with 7% premium at option of company. Par value shares, $10 each.

We offer, subject to prior sale and advance in price, common stock of this company at

$5.00 PER SHARE

Price of these shares is being advanced rapidly, and on or before July 15 the price positively advances to $6 per share.

Realize how much money you could have made by investing a little money in the present great automobile companies of today when they were being started. Almost unbelievable fortunes have been and are being made in that way. Place your order for 20 to 1,000 shares at once.

Let us give you full information—write for circular AB 7-13. Our advice: —As this offering is going rapidly, wire us your order (at our expense) and follow with remittance to cover. Reservations will be considered in order received.

Russian-Japanese Treaty Is a Warning to America to Prepare

The document simply means these two Powers have agreed to partition Asia between them and to drive the United States out of the "open door" and then shut and lock the door.

What we cannot understand is the surprise with which this sinister and menacing announcement has been received by our Government and our press. For the files of the AMERICAN bear witness that this newspaper has over and over again stated the facts about the Russian-Japanese alliance; about the treaty they had secretly made for the partition of China; about their hostile determination to drive the United States from the Pacific Ocean, and to put the militarism, the despotisms and the civil and religious institutions of Asia and the Asiatics above the civilization, institutions and ideals of the Caucasian race.

It was for this very purpose that Russia fomented the terrible conflict in which Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany and Austria are wasting their strength, their wealth and their people's lives.

When these great civilized European Powers finally cease their war through sheer exhaustion there will be only one great civilized Caucasian nation standing in the way of Japan's and Russia's ambition to exercise the hegemony of the world. That, of course, is our own country.

And nothing can be more certain than that the faithless, ruthless and dangerous diplomacy of Russia and Japan will force war upon us.

This treaty, which insolently announces the purpose of Japan and Russia to disregard our treaty and commercial rights in China, is the first open challenge, and is meant to be what it is, a contemptuous defiance.

Now we hear that Washington is perturbed, that the Administration is in doubt as to what is meant by the "special interests" in the Far East which Russia and Japan agree to maintain against all comers, and that it fears that the "open door" is menaced.

Among New York papers we find the Sun declaring that Russia is backing Japan and that the treaty concentrates the grip of these two Powers upon Oriental trade, while the World recites the doubts and the surprise of Washington.

In other words, our people and our press and our Government are at last waking up to the fact which the AMERICAN has seen for a long time and frequently proclaimed—namely, that the only real menace to American interests is Japan and Japan's allies. The press, public and the Government have heretofore let themselves be influenced by silly sentimentality and have shut their eyes to the real interest of the United States.

Certain papers, either influenced by Japanese interests or blinded by Japanese flattery, have published articles and editorials calculated to mislead the public as to the real facts. These papers have declared that the Japanese had nothing but friendly feelings toward the United States, no desire to control the Pacific, no desire to monopolize the trade of the Orient, no desire to be anything but to live on the greatest good terms with the United States, and to sacrifice their own interest for ours. Even the Japanese newspapers themselves have not been as pro-Japanese as some of these American pro-Japanese organs printed here in our own country.

Now these papers and the Government are beginning to wake up, but only BEGINNING to see the inevitable development of affairs because that development is only beginning to be revealed. Soon we will see clearer what the Russian alliance and the English alliance with Japan really means and what our country has to fear from this shrewd, selfish, scheming, unscrupulous, aggressive and ambitious nation, Japan.

It is astonishing that so many of you intelligent persons cannot see the hostile purposes and the powerful preparation Japan is making against the day of war with us.

You seem to be as blind and deaf to facts and warnings as England was blind and deaf to facts and warnings of the inevitable conflict with Germany.

You know, in fact, that England did not really wake up until war was actually declared, and it does seem that our Government and that you citizens are determined to be as fatuously and stupidly indifferent to impending danger and as neglectful of necessary preparation as were the Government and the people of England—though surely her dreadful experience ought to be sufficient warning to us if we have not altogether lost our native common sense.

Men and brethren, if the time and effort our Government and so many of our newspapers and so many of our citizens have wasted in interfering in the conflicts of other nations, during these past two years, had been employed upon our own vital concerns and in preparing for our own inevitable conflict with Japan, backed by Russia, we should not be now in the case we are—unable to say an effective word against the insolent announcement of the purpose of these two Powers to push us out of the Orient and to drive us from any share in the control of the Pacific.

Friends, let us begin in dead earnest to prepare our defence and to secure our safety.
